130th Anniversary Rites For Flatbush Reformed Church Open Wednesday

Historical Service in Charge of the Rev. S. W. Rider Signals Start of Celebration to Traditional Institution.

DEMAREST SPEAKS

Dr. Demarest Brings Congratulations from New Brunswick Seminary and Rutgers College.

The 130th anniversary celebration at the Flatbush Reformed Church of Saugerties, opened Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with a historical service in the church building in charge of the Rev. Stephen W. Rider, Ph.D., present pastor of the church.

Musical selections during this service included two harp solos by Miss Helen Sheldon, "Priore" by Hasselmann, and "The Bells" by Rente, and a vocal solo, "God of Our Fathers," sung in the language of the Netherlands by Adolph Elling.

The front section of the church was decorated with various ornaments pertaining to the Dutch settlers, and also displayed an old oil-painted map of Ulster county and a portrait of the Rev. Peter A. Overbagh, first pastor of the Flatbush Church.

Dr. Demarest, Speaker.

The address was given by the Rev. William H. S. Demarest, D. D., LL. D., on the subject "The Historical Background of the Reformed Churches of Ulster Classis."

Dr. Demarest brought the congratulations of Rutgers College and New Brunswick Seminary to the Flatbush Church, stating that most of the ministers in the history of the local church had received their degrees from these two colleges. He also spoke concerning the active and fruitful life of the people of the church and expressed his feelings for the old stone edifice—"a stone church of great dignity and beauty."

The speaker touched briefly on the various Flatbush ministers, commenting especially on the memorial sermon preached by Dr. Demarest's father, the Rev. David D. Demarest, third pastor of the church, during the period of 1841-1843, on the occasion of the death of the first pastor, the Rev. Peter A. Overbagh.

Five Point Address

Dr. Demarest then launched into a five point address concerning the history of the Reformed churches in this territory, making as his first point the antiquity of this area and the right to the feeling of pride that the people of this locality should have.

He listed the many churches which date back over 100 years, starting with the First Dutch Reformed Church of Kingston, established in 1658, and the New Palat Church, started in 1678, and stated that this generation were heirs to a tradition.

The second part of the address dealt with the three-fold ancestry of this territory. First came the Dutch who were of a composed, enduring type, representing a church that had strong and vital ties with the old world.

Following these Hollanders came the French Huguenots who settled many places along the coast and also established a center in New Palat with a church there. These people added the fine French quality to this territory. The third group composing this three-fold ancestry, was the Germans who settled at West Camp and established the present Reformed Church at Catsbaan.

G-Men Probe Two Theories in Search For Missing Woman

Stony Brook, N. Y., June 10 (AP)—Two theories—kidnaping or murder—confronted government investigators seeking to unravel the mystery today of the disappearance of Mrs. Alice Parsons, 38, New York social registerite, from her fashionable North Shore home on Long Island.

Bolstering the abduction theory was a note, pencilled on cheap white ruled paper, enclosed in a cheap white envelope, addressed to William H. Parsons, husband of the missing woman. Parsons is a Yale graduate and retired business man.

The note was unsigned. It demanded $25,000 and contained the sinister suggestion that police activity might mean death for Mrs. Parsons.

Blood-Stained Axe.

In support of the murder theory was a blood-stained axe found on the grounds of the Parsons' chicken farm. The investigators carefully wrapped the axe and expected to make an analysis of the stains, though it was suggested the axe might have been used to kill chickens.

The ransom note was found last night shortly after Parsons, returning from a trip to New York city and finding his wife missing, notified the State Police Barracks at Bay Shore, on the south side of the island.

$25,000 Ransom.

It was addressed to "Bill Parsons." The authorities would not disclose its contents, but it was learned from a reliable source the note read: "I have your wife. Bring $25,000 to the Jamaica Bay Terminal within the next 24 hours and my men will meet you and call you by name. Do not bring any cops. If you do Alice will never speak to you again."

Mrs. Parsons, the former Alice W. McDonell, was said to be worth about $200,000, of which she recently inherited $50,000. Her husband, too, was said to be well-to-do. He was graduated from Yale in 1910.

Russian Tells Story

The story of Mrs. Parsons' disappearance came from Mrs. Anna Kupryonova, described by the police as a high-born Russian woman, who had worked for the Parsons family for about four years.

Mrs. Kupryonova, Assistant District Attorney Joseph S. Arata of Suffolk county reported, said a middle-aged couple called for Mrs. Parsons yesterday morning at the Parsons' home, "Long Meadow Farm," and that the matron drove off with them.

Gone To New York

Parsons had gone to New York city, 65 miles away, yesterday morning to meet two Russians at Tenth street and second avenue on the lower East Side of Manhattan. The appointment with the Russians he told Arata, had been made by Mrs. Kupryonova after he had expressed a desire to learn how to make a Russian delicacy called English squash paste.

Mrs. Parsons drove him to the railroad station at St. James about 10 miles away and promised to meet him when he returned about sunset.

Parsons told Arata he got off the train at Stony Brook a little after 7 o'clock last night, waited for his wife, and then slightly perturbed by her failure to appear, took a taxi home.

GUARD JAIL IN STRIKE CENTER

These deputies, armed with tear gas guns, guard one of the entrances to the Mahon County Jail in Youngstown, Ohio. Mounting strike tension and reports of a plan to storm the jail caused Sheriff Ralph E. Elser to round up 100 deputies. All jail entrances were guarded.

Brown Jury Selections Feature Opening of Trial For Handelman Murders

Charles James Brown, charged with the murder of Mr. and Mrs. Isidore Handelman at their home in Ellenville on April 8, last, went on trial today to answer the indictment which charges murder, first degree. If found guilty of the crime as charged, the court may impose the death penalty.

A recess was taken shortly after noon until 2 o'clock when the selection of a panel of 12 men to hear the case was taken up. It is expected that the selection of a jury will take at least the remainder of the week. The trial may take at least a week after the jury has been empaneled.

The case went to trial before County Judge Frederick G. Traver with District Attorney Cleon B. Murray and Assistant District Attorney N. LeVan Haver appearing for the prosecution and the defendant represented by Assemblyman J. Edward Conway and Former County Attorney Robert G. Groves.

It is charged by indictment that Brown, Ellenville negro truckman, entered the Handelman home on Pine street, Ellenville, about 2 o'clock in the morning for the purpose of robbing the aged couple and when discovered he killed the aged folks with a piece of pinion gear from a car with which he had armed himself before going to the Handelman home. Later the place was set after while Brown is alleged to have searched for money in the bedding of the room and the two aged people were found later practically cremated in the room when firemen had extinguished the flames.

Brown was later arrested at the Orange County Home at Goshen where he applied for food and was brought back to Ulster county by Sheriff Abram Molyneux and held for the double murder. The grand jury has returned two first degree murder charges. Brown will go on trial on one of these charges.

When Judge Traver opened court this morning an extra panel of 100 jurors summoned for the trial was in attendance and the morning session was taken up with the presenting of excuses of jurors who desired to be excused.

Of the panel of 100 all but 28 asked to be excused and Judge Traver excused 49 of the men. In so (Continued on Page 22)

Park Avenue Matron, 65, Convicted Dog Poisoner, Dozes in Court; Says Acts Humane, She'll Appeal

Eastchester, N. Y., June 10 (AP)—Westchester county may have another colorful court session to determine whether Mrs. Juliet Tuttle, 65-year-old well-to-do matron of Larchmont and Park avenue, New York city, is a poisoner of cats and dogs or an amateur humane worker who spends much of her time cruising about Westchester and New York city seeking ailing animals to comfort.

For the time being, Mrs. Tuttle stands convicted of poisoning two Eastchester dogs. Justice of the Peace Mathew Siano found her guilty late last night, after a four-hour trial, and fined her $500.

King Leopold Talks With Premier About Belgian Amnesty

Brussels, June 10, (AP)—King Leopold III—who knew war at 13 as the youngest private in Belgium's staunch army—called Premier Paul Von Zeeland into conference today on the government's bitterly contested proposal to pardon all Belgians convicted of treason during the World War.

It was believed the King might act as an intermediary in an effort to conciliate war veterans who staged demonstrations yesterday against the Amnesty bill.

The senate, apparently unmoved by the demonstrations, continued to debate the bill; a narrow majority was predicted.

Julius Hoste, liberal Flemish minister of education, said the situation was "uncertain." Political circles were tense. Police were prepared for any emergency.

Troops Called

Mounted troops and tanks were thrown about the parliament buildings and strategic points in the Capital to prevent a repetition of demonstrations such as one yesterday in which 400 veterans hurled their war decorations on the tomb of the unknown soldier.

The government received a delegation of the veterans in an effort to mollify them, but feared a new outburst when the Amnesty measure comes up for action before the senate today.

Veterans who forced their way to the speaker of the senate swore to kill any "traitor" who profited by the bill.

The government supported measure, already passed by the lower house 95 to 75, affects principally Flemings living in the north of Belgium who sided with Germany during the war in the hope of establishing an independent Flemish state if Germany won.

Many of these were convicted of treason and citizenship rights were taken from them. Some are still in prison.

Bitterness has raged for months with ex-service men opposing the Amnesty bill while Flemings have staged counter demonstrations demanding the government force its passage.

KATHLEEN NORRIS FORECASTS FAILURE FOR DUKE AND BRIDE

New York, June 10 (AP)—Kathleen Norris, author of 62 novels, said today she believes the romance of the Duke of Windsor and his American dutchess is doomed to failure.

Returning from the Coronation, Mrs. Norris said: "Their romance and a small villa on the Riviera will be a pretty substitute for a king who had adventure, yachts, half a dozen castles, homage and the respect and adulation of millions."

MIDDLETOWN FIREMEN ELECT O'BOYLE CHIEF

The firemen of Middletown on Tuesday elected Francis E. O'Boyle as fire chief of that city. He defeated Chief W. M. Seeley, who is completing 11 years as head of the Middletown fire department. The vote was O'Boyle, 488 and Seeley, 346. The new chief takes office on July 1.

Philadelphia, June 10 (AP)—Department of Justice agents in Pennsylvania and nearby states started today a roundup of more than 100 persons indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of liquor law violations. The office of the U. S. attorney said the indictments yesterday resulted from an investigation of one of the largest bootleg rings since the repeal of prohibition. Many of the defendants were said to be persons of national reputation. Their names were carefully guarded on order of Judge George A. Welsh.

Selection of the winner will be determined by an award committee of Kiwanians. The various city employees whose conduct and efforts permit examination for the awards will have their cases presented by the head of the specific city department which employs them. British Squelch Red Attempt To Join 4-Power Discussion

(By The Associated Press)

London, June 10 (AP)—Great Britain defeated today a Soviet attempt to join four-power discussions of safety guarantees for warships of the "hands off Spain" patrol—discussions which are intended to woo Germany and Italy back to the neutrality fold.

Great Britain decided to confine the talks to herself, France, Italy and Germany because, she felt, enlargement of the number of conferees might cause friction and further alienate the Nazi and Fascist states.

Italy and Germany now are operating their warships in the waters of Spain with complete liberty of action from the non-intervention patrol, which is supposed to check violations of a 27-nation ban on the sending of foreign fighters and guns to Spain. They withdrew from the patrol after Spanish government planes had bombed their ships, and Germany's warships shelled the Spanish government Port of Almeria in reprisal.

The British refusal to let Soviet Russia and other countries in on the safety guarantee talks at this time was communicated to Soviet Ambassador Ivan M. Maisky and to the non-intervention committee as a whole by the British vice-chairman of the group, Captain Euan Wallace.

The Wallace statement was accepted as a flat rejection of Soviet demand for full committee discussion of the subject, brought into being by Spanish government air attacks on Italian and German patrol vessels. These attacks led to Germany's reprisal shelling of Almeria and caused Germany and Italy to take their ships out of the non-intervention patrol, which is supposed to help keep foreign arms and fighters out of Spain.

Will Settle Slander Case.

London, June 10 (AP)—Ernest Aldrich Simpson's slander action against Mrs. Joan Sutherland, it was settled in court tomorrow, it was indicated today. The case officially was scheduled for "mention" before Lord Chief Justice Hewart in the king's bench division. This was interpreted to mean that counsel will explain the remarks on which the slander action is based resulted from misinformation, apologies will be tendered and the case settled.

Simpson's writ was based on remarks Mrs. Sutherland, wife of Lieut. Col. A. H. C. Sutherland, was alleged to have made at a west end restaurant anent the Simpson divorce case.

Le Havre, France, June 10 (AP)—Police disclosed today Dr. R. Dadiani, who described himself as the son of a Rumanian prince, had mysteriously disappeared following the loss at sea of his cabinmate under strange and romantic circumstances.

50 Police and Sheriff's Deputies Use Tear Gas and Night Sticks When Pickets Try to Block Food Shipment.

WAGNER VIOLATION

Formal Complaint at Chicago Charges Inland Steel Corp. Violated Wagner Act.

By the Associated Press.

At Monroe Mich., steel workers and newly deputized special policemen drove a negro organizer for the Committee for Industrial Organization out of the city shortly before noon today as the zero hour neared for the reopening of the strike-closed Newton Steel Co. plant.

An early morning clash between pickets and officers shattered an interlude of relative calm in the seven-state steel strike which entered its third week today.

Repercussions of a previous bloody clash and threatened new disorders contributed to unrest in industrial conflicts which have rendered more than 127,000 idle.

Fifty policemen and sheriff's deputies used tear gas and night sticks in hand-to-hand fighting at Youngstown, O., today. Several hundred strikers participated in the melee precipitated by pickets' attempt to block a food-laden truck destined for the Republic Corporation's mill. At least 17, including two policemen, were injured.

Tension increased at Monroe, Mich., where Republic's subsidiary, Newton Steel Company, planned to reopen its strike-closed plant. Company officials said the plant would resume operations regardless of the outcome of Gov. Frank Murphy's conference with employees.

Two hundred special police were sworn in to aid a force of 20 policemen and 50 deputies. Leaders of the steel workers organizing committee said picket forces would be strengthened by 8,000 to 10,000 unionists from steel mills in the Detroit area.

A formal complaint charging the Inland Steel Corporation with violation of the Wagner act was submitted to the National Labor Relations Board by S. W. O. C. officials at Chicago. The unionists contended refusal of Inland to negotiate demands for a written contract guaranteeing collective bargaining constituted violation of the law.

Union leaders announced they were preparing civil suits against police officers, the city of Chicago and Republic Corporation, alleging $500,000 damages for the deaths of eight men and injury to scores of others in the Memorial Day steel strike riot at Republic's South Chicago plant. They also disclosed John L. Lewis, C. I. O. chief, would address a mass meeting at Chicago June 17.

Electric light and power were restored to 192 cities in Michigan's Saginaw Valley after settlement of a strike of Consumers Power Company employees which plunged 80,000 workers into idleness. Members of the United Automobile Workers Union pulled switches yesterday, disrupting service in the highly industrialized area. An official announcement said the agreement terminating the strike provided for wage increases.

At Washington, President William Green of the American Federation of Labor called for immediate payment of extra assessments by member unions to augment funds to be used in fighting the committee for industrial organization. The groups split less than a year ago.

"Reefers" Were Stakes.

Elmira, N. Y., June 10 (AP)—A sheriff told today of a dice game in which Marijuana cigarettes were the stakes. Sheriff Harry J. Tift said Leroy Toran, Harlem negro under arrest for the alleged sale of the so-called "reefers" to two Elmira youths, described the game. He said Toran told him the negro enrollees of the Lowman Citizens Conservation Corps camp "shot dice" for the narcotic several times a week. Toran, a camp enrollee, was arrested last week.

$1,900 Savings Lost.

New York, June 10 (AP)—Police were trying today to help Mrs. Margaret Markshater, 72-year-old white-haired widow, find $1,900, her life's savings. Mrs. Markshater had the money in a small linen bag which she always carried tied about her neck. Yesterday she went for a walk, because of the heat she tied the bag about her waist. When she got home the bag was gone.

Both Job And Hubby Seen For Girl Grads

By LYDIA GRAY SHAW
AP Feature Service Writer

New York—America's sweet girl graduates won't have to tussle so fiercely this year with that old dilemma—marriage or career.

For with any kind of luck, says Virginia C. Gilderleeve, Barnard college's famous dean, they are very apt to have both.

Once more jobs are opening up, and industry is more eager to make places for the girls than in any other year since 1920 and 1931.

"Opportunities are somewhat greater than last year," Dean Gilderleeve asserts, "and many times greater than in depression years."

Majority Will Marry.

With the wisdom that comes from guiding college girls towards employment during many a June, gray-haired Dean Gilderleeve figures that 72 per cent of the class of 1937 will marry within 10 years. But fewer will marry immediately after graduation than did a decade ago. Most will work a few years, and they're likely to continue working, part time at least, after marriage.

Dean Gilderleeve

Not so many of the girls plan to be teachers this year, says the dean, because only those who really want to teach will have to do so.

As a result, more women graduates are turning to business and the professions. More Barnard girls are planning to study medicine than are going into nursing she says.

Advanced Study Popular.

Law isn't as attractive as medicine but social service attracts an increasing number of girls. And more and more, college graduates will pursue advanced study before going to work.

But even if the world looks bright to the class of 1937, it isn't so rosy as it was in the 20's. No longer do representatives of leading concerns throng college halls on the lookout for promising material.
The 1937 graduates will make her way in her chosen field. But, says Dean Gilderleeve, she will have to fight her way.

5 Killed in Fire Of Unknown Origin On Nazi Railroad

Halle, Germany, June 10 (AP)—Five freight handlers were known to have been killed and many others of the 80 on duty were reported missing in a mysterious fire which swept the railroad yards.

A number of the handlers and clerks were injured in the fire which broke out last night and destroyed 500 freight cars.

The freight depot and buildings, covering an area of 20,000 square yards, were for the most part completely burned.

The damage was estimated at many millions of marks.

The fire spread with amazing rapidity through the trans-shipment station of the German Federal Railways. The depot was devoted exclusively to transferring goods from one freight car to another.

Officials said they were at a loss to account for the origin of the holocaust.

J.P. Morgan Objects To "Twist" of Words

New York, June 10 (AP)—J. P. Morgan's views on paying taxes were clarified today: "The financier is opposed to tax-dodging or tax-evasion," but feels that taxpayers complying with the law should not be censured for not paying more than they owe.

Returning from Europe last Monday, Morgan said in a chat with ship-news reporters "If the government objects to tax evasion, it should change the laws, which can be done by Congress, but the taxpayers must not be insulted."

He then further commented: "You only do what you are compelled to do by law, for it is never any pleasure for anyone to pay taxes. You don't do any more than you have to. It is just as bad to pay too much as too little."

His remarks received widespread publicity. Last night Morgan said he was "surprised at the interpretation that some people seem to have put on my off-hand remarks," and he issued this formal statement:

"My interview on shipboard with newspapermen last Monday took place before I had seen President Roosevelt's message on income tax evasion, with Secretary Mergen-

thau's letter. I am surprised at the interpretation that some people seem to have put on my off-hand remarks, for I certainly have no sympathy with tax-dodging or tax evasion and had no thought of defending such practices.

"What I feel strongly is that when a taxpayer has complied with all the terms of the law, he should not be held up to obloquy for not having paid more than he owed."

Gives Sketch of Pioneer Settlers of Saugerties At Historical Meeting

A sketch of "The Pioneer Settlers of Saugerties" was given by Mrs. Lila James Roney, a Fellow of the New York Genealogical Society, at the spring meeting of the Ulster County Historical Society held Saturday at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The following is the text of her interesting address on the old stone houses of Saugerties:

The valley of the Esopus is hammed in by mountains, lovely with their verdant woodlands crowned by massive rocks. Primitive man must have gazed upon them in wonder. Upon their rugged summits the sons of the forest and the daughters of the forest have known the calm of countless dreamy nights and the glory of centuries of sun-drenched days. Before those giant hills sculptured by glacial forces against a canvas that is sky one feels the Genesis of all things—the inconsequence of time!

From their dim shadows there emerges the figure of the first known white settler of the region, the little sawyer of the Sawkill. His identity is shrouded in mystery; but from scattered data in the ancient records we know that he was here and had built his mill in the virgin wilderness before 1655. The deed of the red men conveying 15,000 acres to the little sawyer was signed by the Indian Chief Kaseop and was confirmed by a treaty made by Gov. Andros and the Indians 27 April 1677. In the treaty Kaseop states that he "has given to a kill named Sawyer's Kill right to all the lands along the river to the limits of the Catskill Indians and the blue mountains beyond." This treaty was always respected by the Indians. They called his place "de Saugerties," from which came the name of the stream, the town and the village. The little sawyer was the largest landholder the town ever had. Whence he came or whither he went remains a mystery to this day. On May 30, 1687, Gov. Thomas Dongan granted to two Englishmen, George Meales and Richard Hayes, the vast acreage which today comprises the village of Saugerties and the surrounding territory. The next conveyance is dated 5 February 1688, when Cornelius Lambertsen Brink of Kingston acquired the land at the junction of the Plattekill and Esopus creeks. Here, he built the stone house, still standing, the oldest house within the borders of the town.

We now reach the first settlement, which was made at West Camp by the Palatines. You, who have stood above Heidelberg and have seen the valley of the Rhine unfold itself before you—there you have seen the homelands of many of the first settlers of Saugerties. On the shores of Lake Geneva within the shadows of those eternal mountains, John Calvin preached a revolutionary doctrine—a religion without a priest, a church without a prelate, a government without a king. It invaded France and put heart in the feudal serf and terror in the soul of his lord and master. It entered Holland and endowed an industrious people with courage to fling off the chains of a Spanish king. It conquered England and placed the open Bible in the hand of every man. It leaped the Atlantic and proclaimed on the bleak New England shore the unity of race and the equality of man. It stopped at no danger and taught man for the first time to look straight into the face of his Maker without the intercession of priest or prelate. It bowed to none but an invisible King. Finally, the followers of Luther joined those who followed Calvin to seek a new home in a far off land. We find the poverty-stricken Palatines without shelter wandering through the streets of London in their rags and their clattering wooden shoes, where they had gone to appeal to the Queen's Council. It must have been a strong appeal to have led the English people of that day to give food and shelter to these refugees. The English government furnished ten ships into which three or four thousand men, women and children were packed. In January, 1710, they sailed away from the shores of the old world to an unknown destiny beyond the seas. The weary horde arrived in New York the following June. From then until October the Dutch Colony pondered on what to do with this heart sick folk, from which the Grim Destroyer had taken his toll from nearly every family. In October, 1710, they sailed up the Hudson and made settlements on both sides of the river with headquarters at West Camp. Here, they erected several huts, a church and a schoolhouse. This church, the predecessor of the present church at West Camp, was the first Lutheran Church in the United States. In the vestibule of this historic edifice is a brown stone tablet which since 1719 has marked the resting place of its first pastor, the Rev. Joshua Kocherthal. Time does not permit our following the fortunes of the Palatines through the grim months which followed not only the first winter, but the second and third. The story is too well known—how half of them died of the inspiration and the joy of freedom they cheerfully faced starvation, sorrow and torturing anxiety.

On August 16, 1712, the land on the north side of the Esopus creek, a part of the original Meales-Hayes grant of 1687, was confirmed by a patent to John Persen of Kingston and he became the first permanent settler of what is now the village of Saugerties. John Persen was of distinguished forebears of Colonial New Netherland. His baptism is recorded in the Dutch Church in Kingston, 2 September 1683, the son of Sergeant Jan Hendrick Persen and his wife, Annetje Mattys, the step-daughter of Thomas Chambers, Lord of the Manor of Foxhall. Sergeant Jan Hendrick Persen came to the Esopus from Fort Orange as a member of the Dutch West India Company at the time of the Indian massacre of 1663. On March 25, 1668, his marriage banns to Annetje Mattheysen, daughter of Mattheys Janse van Keulen, were recorded in the Dutch Church. Mattheys Janse van Keulen, her father, had been a resident of Haarlem and early a resident of the Esopus. Sgt. Jan Hendrick Persen died in Kingston, 22 March 1708. His son, John Persen, the original settler of Saugerties, was then a husbandman, having married Anna Catryn Post; their first born, a son, John, having been baptized in the Dutch Church, 2 March 1707. The tax list of Ulster county, of 9 December 1709, lists John Persen as assessed $20.8 sh.; on March 25, 1710, his widowed mother was taxed for a dwelling with three chimneys, while he paid a tax for a house with but one chimney. Doubtless, John Persen had at that time settled on the bank of the Hudson, as there is still extant an interesting will which he executed August 10, 1711, "being minded to take a journey for Canada," the instrument bequeaths to "loving wife, Antje, full possession of where she now lives so long as she remains unmarried;" his two infant sons, John, baptized 2 March 1707, and Abraham, baptized 11 September 1709, are mentioned in the document, "to son, John Persen, I leave my gun that I leave at home, and to my son, Abraham Persen, I leave that one I shall gett att Albany." This proposed journey was the expedition into Canada during Queen Anne's War. Like his father, John Persen was active in the mili-

ty. In 1738, he was Captain of a Foot Company which was composed of the settlers in his locality. His last will, dated 5 July 1748, proved 25 June 1756 and filed in the office of the surrogate of New York county, gives us a true picture of his surroundings and his industrious life.

"I, John Persen, of Kingston in Ulster county, being very sick, I leave to my wife, Anna Catryn, during the time that she is my widow all my estate, houses, mills, ferry, all lands and moveables, negroes, horses and cattle. But if she marries then all to my heirs. My son, Abraham Persen, shall have his birthright, 6 shillings and my large black cupboard. I leave to my son, Jacobus, my now dwelling house, barn and grist mill, and all lands that the buildings stand upon bounded as follows—beginning at the Esopus creek by a small run of water lying southwest from the mill, called the First Brook, and running up along said brook until it meets or crosses my west line and then go as the line runs to the said Esopus, then up said creek to and including the grist-mill. Also, another piece of land beginning at said brook along the Esopus to a hill under the falls and then westerly 100 yards from the Esopus. Also another piece of land called the Island in said Esopus creek lying surrounded by the Esopus creek and two morgens of meadow land on the Esopus called the Sawyer's Flats, one morgen to the east of the island and the other one west of the island. Also one morgen of meadow under the hill on said Esopus. Also my negro, John, and one negro boy, my Bible and gun. For which he shall pay to John and Maria Persen, my grandchildren, children of my deceased son, Cornelius Persen, £100, and to my son, Abraham Persen, £40.

"I leave to my daughter, Jannettie, wife of Myndert Mynderse, my Old Farm, or the dwelling where I formerly lived and which is now in possession of the said Myndert Mynderse, and all of the lands adjoining those given to my son, Jacobus Person, and she shall pay my son, Abraham Persen, £60. I leave to my grandchildren, John and Maria Persen, the children of my son, Cornelius Persen, deceased, all the rest of my household stuff after the death of my wife. To my son, Jacobus Persen, all my farming tools. All the rest of my estate to my children and the children of my son, Cornelius Persen, my son, Jacobus Persen, and my son-in-law, Myndert Mynderse, executors." This will is enlightening; it clearly proves that at the time of his death, John Persen did not occupy his Old Farm, which he bequeathed to his daughter, Jannettie Mynderse, and which for generations has been known as the Mynderse place; but lived in another dwelling which will fell to his son, Jacobus Persen. Where this house stood is not known; but from the described boundaries of the will we know that it was somewhere on the north side of the Esopus creek overlooking the river.

Of his children his first born died in infancy, Abraham married 14 January 1731 Catharina Schoonmaker; Jacobus married Catharine Mynderse; Cornelius married 10 December 1736 Catharine Osterhout and Jannettie married 5 December 1835 Myndert Mynderse.

Truly, the life of John Persen was spent in pleasant places beside the still waters. All that is mortal of this worthy first settler rests somewhere near the home he founded on that beautiful hillside above the river—its site lost to posterity; but the memory of John Persen will live in the annals of his native county as the beautiful ivy flings its green o'er dreary decay.

On a secluded hill-top at Kingsmead, a little cemetery has stood for nearly a century and a half. By their stones shall ye know them! In the heart of this old burying ground two aging stones are thus inscribed: "Heer legte de overleden Aeltje Myer Huys Vrouw van Evert Wynkoop geboren in Het Jaar Onzes Heeren 1741 den 11 Maart sy ist ontslapen in Het Jaar 1798 den 16 dec." and this one "Lieut. Evert Wynkoop dyed 16 April 1830 aged 88-7-8." Nearby, in an old corner stone in an abandoned foundation with this child legend—two hearts and their initials and the marriage date 1765. Such are the visible evidences of a pioneer of the past but behind those old stone records—of a home built and a journey ended—lies a tale of Evert Wynkoop, husband, father and officer of the Revolution. Lieut. Evert Wynkoop who sleeps in that little enclosure was of the third generation to occupy the homestead. He was the grandson of Evert Wynkoop, the pioneer, who purchased a vast tract in the Meales-Hayes grant and wilderness in 1719. On 6 May and 28 September 1719, he was deeded two separate tracts both "lying three miles westward from the mouth of the Esopus creek at the side of a run called the Beaverkill by Sarah Meales, widow of George Meales, William White and Goodith, his wife, all of the Manor of Livingston, and Hannah Loveridge, widow of the city of New York." Evert Wynkoop was born in Fort Orange, 24 March 1665, the son of Cornelius and Maria (Langendyk) Wynkoop.

His father was one of the early settlers in the Esopus, an elder of the Dutch Church in Kingston, in 1671. Evert Wynkoop took the Oath of Allegiance in Ulster county in 1689; the qualifications being that the subscriber must be of the Reformed faith and favorable to the Dutch government. He was a magistrate of Kingston in 1695, 1697, 1698 and 1711 and trustee in 1710. From the early tax lists we know that he enjoyed wealth for those days. In 1719, he had married a second time, one marvels at the courage of the pioneer woman! With his second wife, Antje Klersted, and their four infant children, the youngest but a babe, Evert Wynkoop left the confines of Kingston and journeyed toward the setting sun to establish their new home in the wilderness. His last will dated Beaverkill, 2 June 1746, named his second wife, Antje, his sons, Tobias, Jacobus and Johannes, his grandchildren, Evert and Tjaatje, children of his deceased son, Cornelius, his grandchildren, Evert and Catharine, children of his deceased son, Hezekiah, and his granddaughter, Gertrude, child of his deceased daughter, Catharine Decker. Evert Wynkoop, the pioneer, died 31 July 1746, the ancient brown sandstones marking his grave and the graves of his son, Hezekiah and his widow, Maria Davenport, were among those on Mynderse hill some thirty years ago. After his death, the homestead property was occupied by his daughter-in-law, Maria Davenport, widow of his son, Hezekiah, with her two small children, who were named in the will of their grandfather. This grandson, Evert, inherited the homestead property upon his majority. On May 30, 1765, he married Aeltje Myer, daughter of John William and Sarah (Newkirk) Myer, and granddaughter of Christian Myer, the worthy Palatine.

Evert Wynkoop was commissioned Lieutenant of militia, 7 December 1773. He was then the father of two sons and two daughters and on 30 May, 1774, he wrote the birth of his third son in the family Bible. What if several months later the shots heard at Lexington echoed round the world? In 1775, this young husband had other things to think about than kings, ministers and taxation. In May of that year he wrote, "When all fruit was formed came on a very hard frost and killed all fruit, the woods looked as in winter." Thus wrote the husbandman, but the American Revolution was underway and despite frost and babies Evert Wynkoop shouldered his musket to drill with the Associates of Kingston in June of that memorable year. The records of the War Department are replete with his exploits and daring; from the fading affidavits of many of the soldiers under his command we know that he was at Fort Montgomery, Fletchkill, Harpersfield, Stillwater, White Plains, Valley Forge, Ticonderoga and the Ramapo serving throughout the long conflict. In the hand of his eldest son, Hezekiah Wynkoop, is inscribed in the family Bible, "My honored father, Evert Wynkoop, an officer in the old Revolutionary War, died on Friday, the 16th of April, 1830, in his 87th year, (Continued on Page Eight)

RONDOUT - HUDSON NAVIGATION NEWS

The old gunboat "Philadelphia", one of the oldest fighting ships now in existence, was on display in the Catskill creek last week. The vessel was sunk in Valcour Bay, Lake Champlain, on October 11, 1776, and was recently raised. The hull was placed inside a barge and covered with a wooden superstructure to prevent further decay. Cannon, swivel guns, sweeps, mast, cannon-ball, pieces of muskets, rifle shot, human teeth, buttons of uniforms, coins, buckles, and other items have been rescued from the bottom of the lake and are displayed with the hull which measures 54 feet in length and 15 feet across its beam. The relic will remain at West Point for the summer season where it may be viewed by the public.

The tugboat "Edmond J. Moran" of the Moran line was in the Rondout creek Monday for supplies.

Sunken wrecks of an old deck scow and a piledriver, which have been a menace to navigation in the Hudson river near Albany for several years, will soon be removed. Bids will be opened June 15 at the U. S. Army Engineer's office in New York, for the elimination of the obstructions.

Thick fog and heavy river traffic caused the night boat "S. S. Trojan" to be five and a half hours behind its schedule on the New York-Albany run Monday. Joseph Coffee, Albany agent for the Hudson River Night Line, stated that, "The risk of attempting to travel in thick fog with river traffic as heavy as it is at this season of the year, necessitated the docking of the vessel until the fog lifted."

The diesel powered tug, "Thomas J. Feeney" left Rensselaer Tuesday with the barge "Onondaga" loaded with fuel oil, bound for Rochester. The "East Branch", the third of the covered cement barges to be thoroughly overhauled at the Reliance Marine Yard under the direction of Bernard Feeney, is about finished and will leave to enter New York trade along with the "Oriental" and the "Frost Valley".

The Connors tug, "Craig", left Albany Monday, towing the oil barge, "LTC No. 8", westbound on the Barge Canal.

The barge "Ollie", which was loaded with soda ash eastbound on the Barge Canal, crashed into the bulwark at lock 12, Tribes Hill, and required the services of a diver to make temporary repairs. The "Ollie" was in a tow hauled by the Connors tug "Dynamite", which also included the barges "W. Frank Buster" and "Mary K", the property of the Feeney interests of Wilbur. As soon as the cargo of soda ash has been delivered, the damaged barge will arrive at the Wilbur yards for repairs.

Thirty-six members of one of the most popular singing groups are missing and George J. Stump, police commissioner, is investigating, someone broke in the city park birdhouse and stole 36 canaries, leaving six.

'Dry Ice' Helps Keep Desert Drivers Cool

DESERT ICEBOX
Miss Victoria Regnier, San Francisco State College co-ed, cooling a cup of water on a block of dry ice.

Death Valley Junction, Calif. (AP).—They've put the desert to work fighting its own heat.

From wells far out in the scorching Mojave comes a limitless supply of carbon dioxide. Shipped to Los Angeles and other points, this gas is put under pressure of 275 tons to the square inch to become the "dry ice" of commerce.

Although used for refrigeration since 1925, it is only recently that dry ice has proved a boon to desert travelers. Now motorists put a slab of it in a wire basket, close the windows of their car and travel in air-conditioned comfort. A draft from the cowl ventilator accelerates the spread of cool vapor.

Temperature of the dry ice is 114 degrees below zero. It vaporizes but does not melt.

On filling stations dotting the desert motor roads the sign "Cars Iced" is found almost everywhere.

Experts Find Geological Fault in California Area.

Berkeley, Calif.—California seismologists have discovered a new geological fault on the Pacific coast which holds a threat of more earthquakes in the future than in the past.

The discovery of the fault was made as the result of three sharp quakes which occurred on July 6, 1934; January 2, 1935, and June 3, 1936.

The succession of quakes and other similarity of symptoms led seismologists to believe that the seat of the trouble must be in the region of Humboldt county and it was there that they eventually located the geological fault. An official report of the finding has just been made to the Seismographical Society of America.

"Accurate location of the epicenters of these shocks," Dr. Byerly, seismologist at the University of California, stated, "showed that their centers do not lie along the prolongation of the famous San Andreas fault from Point Arena, but rather line up in a more or less north and south direction along a line between seventy-five and 100 miles out from the coast and extending from the northern to the southern border of Humboldt county."

That shocks have an erratic tendency just like the symptoms of a disease, Dean C. Corder of the geodetic survey, declared and for reasons which cannot be explained the San Francisco bay region is having fewer seismic vibrations at present than during the period when the San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge was being constructed, while since the Golden Gate bridge has been virtually completed, still fewer vibrations are being recorded than during the construction of the San Francisco-Oakland bridge.

Metals' Fee Is Found in Corrosion, Expert Says

The word corrosion is derived from a Latin word meaning "to gnaw." It describes a chemical process that goes on quietly day and night, eating up a considerable part of the metals that men have dug, refined and wrought. Its most readily apparent effects are those on iron and steel (we call the corroded iron "rust"), but it damages most other metals as well, according to Dr. Thomas M. Beck in the Chicago Tribune.

When a metal corrodes it is merely returning to a state similar to that in which it was first found. There is very little difference chemically between iron dust and iron ore. Both are essentially compounds of iron with oxygen. The same similarity between ores and corrosion products is found among other metals, although the nonmetallic elements combined with the metal need not be oxygen. But no matter what they may be, their reaction with the metal is called an oxidation, because it is fundamentally similar to the reaction between a metal and oxygen. The reverse change, in which a metal is released from the combining elements and returned to the metallic state, is called reduction.

The conversion of an ore to a metal is a reduction, and the corrosion of the metal is an oxidation. These changes are regarded as electrical. When an atom is oxidized it loses electrons (negative electricity) and becomes more positively charged. Conversely, an atom becomes more negative when reduced. In general, acids are far more corrosive to metals than is oxygen.

Based on the safety record of the railroads for the past seven years, a passenger on a train could have ridden more than 24 billion miles, or continuously for nearly 5,000 years without meeting death in a train accident.

Gives Sketch of Pioneer Settlers

after years of painful suffering having been twice wounded in battle. Thirty-three years before that the soldier had written this record with a trembling hand. "My beloved wife, Alice, died 15th Dec. 1796 at seven o'clock in the evening, she lay sick nine days with a fever." As one stands on that hillside with its cluster of ancient markers, overlooking the peaceful country side in fancy we see a picture of the Jong ago. Here, no doubt, the old soldier sat on many a warm afternoon during his declining years enjoying the cool breezes of the hills. Much did he have to think about, alone, in his thirty-three years of widowhood. At night we can imagine him nodding before the open fire, dreaming of other days and as the snow fell and the winds moaned through those giant trees it must have carried its message to him and there comes to mind those lines of Longfellow, "He thinks it is their mother's voice singing in Paradise."

Hezekiah Wynkoop, eldest son of Evert and Aeltje (Myer) Wynkoop, inherited the baronial farm at the death of his father; he had married 6 March 1785, Elizabeth Dederick, daughter of Matthew Dederick, a captain of militia in the Revolutionary army. He served in the War of 1812 and was always prominent in the affairs of the town and the Katsbaan church. In his day there were four stone dwellings on the vast tract. On the northern acreage along the Beaverkill the family owned and operated a hat factory which at one time was a thriving local industry. He deeded what for years has been known as the "Red School House" at Cedar Grove to the trustees of that district. The old deed dated "20 January 1852, between Hezekiah Wynkoop, Esq., of the Beaverkill in the town of Saugerties of the 1st, part and John P. Kimble, Christian Miller and Harmon Hommel, trustee of District No. 8 and their successors of the 2nd, part a certain lot situated on the west side of the Old King's Road for the express use and benefit of a public school and when it is no longer used for such purpose the trustees are authorized to remove the school and the title shall revert to the heirs then living of the party of the first part."

The will of Hezekiah Wynkoop dated 25 January 1854; proved 12 May 1856, left the old homestead to his son, Evert H. Wynkoop, who had married Maria Post, some thirty years before, 13 September 1821; the stone dwelling still standing on the King's Highway, and now conducted as the Colonial Tavern, he bequeathed to the children of his deceased daughter, Elsie Kimble, "to my grandchildren, the children of my deceased daughter, Elsie, all that farm site on the east side of the Beaverkill where their father, John P. Kimble, now resides," reserving the large south room, half the hall, cellar and attic, the use of all stairways, the front door and the back door, the well and the spring, with a 50 foot enclosure for a garden, to his maiden daughters, Sally and Maria.

After the death of Hezekiah Wynkoop, his three grandsons, sons of Evert H. Wynkoop, occupied the property. William Wynkoop resided in a stone house on the southern portion until his death, April 17, 1884, when his widow continued her residence there for some eight years; this house was torn down by James Winston when he built his present residence. Isaac Wynkoop lived in the old homestead erected by the soldier of the Revolution in 1765, of which only the foundation with its graven symbol of love and affection remains. He died there March 12, 1880. Evert Wynkoop occupied another stone house, still standing on the northern portion of the original grant; this house passed from the Wynkoop family some ten years ago.

Five generations of the family rest in that tiny God's Acre on that quiet hillside. The fires they kindled have long ago burned to gray ashes, their last candle extinguished—their resting place wrapped in shadow and silence.

On a hill side just west of the village of Saugerties stands another ancient house. Its limestone walls, worn and weather beaten, stand a fitting memorial to the man who built them, but like himself now crumbling to decay. What stories of romance and history if those stones could speak. For this, the home of Christian Myer, sent from his walls more than twenty-five sons and grandsons, given by him to the cause of liberty.

Today, his name is but a memory but his record of sacrifice and service mark him as one of the outstanding patriots of his day. Few gave more; few asked less. He sought only to serve and found his reward in the triumph of the principles of liberty to which his life was dedicated. His spirit still lives and his blood imbued with that spark of rugged patriotism implanted by the old pioneer flows through the veins of scores of American families of whom he was progenitor.

Christian Myer was a Palatine, one of those courageous followers of Luther, who, fleeing before the persecutions of intolerant Germany of that day found a haven in the American colonies. Thus that passion for freedom of religious thought which made him willingly suffer exile found him receptive when the cause was political and social.

The exact date of the Palatines arrival at West Camp is not a matter of record. It was some time in the autumn of 1710. Under date of November 14th of that year, Governor Hunter wrote, "Two villages are on the west side near Sawyer's Creek; the inhabitants have built comfortable huts and are now engaged in clearing the land." One of these rude dwellings was the home of Christian Myer. How long he remained at West Camp is not known but later his name figures prominently in the activities of the Dutch pioneers at Katsbaan and his deed to the tract just west of the village of Saugerties is dated 21 February 1734. In that year he reared the rugged limestone walls which for more than a century and a half was the homestead of the family. Now tottering to decay it is the only visible memorial to the staunch old patriot; but the Revolutionary records of his family read like romance.

That Christian Myer felt heavily his responsibilities as a citizen of the colonies that had given him refuge is found in his activities in all matters, both civil and military. In 1738, he and his eldest son, John William Myer, were members of Capt. John Person's Company on Foot. In 1730, he was an elder of the Katsbaan church, the year in which the records of that church began. Two years later he was one of the builders of the stone church and his initials are cut in stones now set in the north wall. At the time of the Revolution he was a very elderly man; but when the measures of the Crown of England aroused the patriots to action although more than 85 years of age he was among the first to sign the Articles of Association and to pledge himself and his possessions to the cause of liberty.

Prominent among the early settlers were Samuel Schoonmaker, Abraham and Jacobus Post, Barret Burhans and Hezekiah DuBois. Around each name cluster daring and romance; but time does not permit details here. John Persen led the advance and it was John Persen who obtained the site of the Katsbaan church from the trustees of Kingston Commons. Under date of 1 March 1730, the trustees leased an acre of ground "on each side of the Old King's Road for those professing the religion and doctrines of the Reformed Protestant Church of Holland—to build a church for God's worship at a place called Ye Katsbaan, said place being a rock ledge where the King's Highway that leads from Kingston to Albany runs a great way on said ledge."

There is something primitive and yet not of this world that has compelled mankind in all ages to erect an altar to their God. It was so at Katsbaan. It is a far cry from that little stone church of 1732 with its leaden roof to the present edifice yet such was the first meeting house of those who peopled this valley that here they found sanctuary—their House of God—and upon its rude altar they laid the open Bible, their statute book.

No good angel stood by these pioneers to draw back the curtain and reveal the future glories of this land and to their restricted vision it was just a vast wilderness. We are impressed with the deadly seriousness of their lives. The population of the locality was not high each knew his neighbor. It appears to us a very small world but they were free men and free women and for that joy of freedom they sacrificed and helped to found this nation. The church was a very live thing to them—the center of their universe. We can never know their hardships nor can we picture their mode of life;

but one thing we know—that the words they heard from that pulpit and the stories they told their children as the summers waned into the winters and finally the dust of the centuries gathered about them were the same eternal truths first breathed to the world on an eastern plain.

They have all gone on a long journey upon which they embarked with-out fear. Could but one of them return this way to the places he once knew though his eyes might search in vain for the scenes of his childhood he would see the spire of the church and know that he was—home!

"The throbbing anthem dies upon the air—all outward things together seem designed To lure the spirit and to lull the mind.

Peace like a benediction on the spirit—It lains
What must the preacher trouble to explain?"

Commission Hears Another Case

On May 26 and June 9 the commission for Delaware Section 5 met at its hearing rooms in the Burgevin Building for the purpose of hearing testimony. This commission consists of Commissioners Spier Whitaker, chairman, of New York city; former Sheriff Arthur Rice of Kingston, and William Chandler of Sullivan county.

The claim presented was that of Giuseppe Infantone, the owner of damage parcel 1230, which will be used as part of the spoil bank for shaft 5-A of the Delaware aqueduct. The parcel consists of approximately 18 1/2 acres and is situated upon the Laidlaw Road in the town of Marlborough.

Claim filed by Mr. Infantone is in the amount of $80,000. Raphael A. Egan, corporation counsel for the city of Newburgh, appeared for the claimant, with Arthur E. Kaley of counsel.

The first witness testifying in behalf of the claimant was Ralph Kohl, a Middle Hope fruit grower. He enumerated the bushes and trees on the parcel, in which were included 75 apple trees, current bushes, raspberries, grapes, strawberries, cherries and peach trees and gave the total value of all the fruits on the land as $26,425.17.

He was followed by Wilbur J. Haviland and John McLaughlin, also fruit experts. Despite objection to this line of testimony, they were permitted by the commission to give values of the individual bushes and trees on the land. It was unusual contested by the city of New York that evidence of the value of individual trees and bushes was not the proper measure of damages, which it was contended was the value of the land as a whole, that the fruit trees and bushes had no value apart from the land and must be considered as part of such. The city contended that the admission of such separate values on individual trees and bushes would aggregate a highly fantastical and chimerical total, which would have no relation to the value of the farm as between a willing seller and a willing buyer.

Arthur Barley gave the commission the structural value of the buildings which include a house, garage, berry house, barn and chicken coops. He testified that the total reproduction cost was $7,669.74, but in his opinion the buildings should be depreciated $1,224.59, leaving a net value of $6,445.15.

William Kohl, city assessor of Newburgh, testified the value of the bare land was $1,200 per acre and Benjamin Chillum testified the bare land was worth $1,500 per acre. Cross-examination of the latter witnesses particularly revealed that these values were based on the assumption that not even the natural trees and springs existed on the land. The city then moved to strike out such testimony as founded upon an improper theory of damages and as contrary to the facts. The motion was denied.

LeGrand Haviland of Highland and P. J. F. Gallagher of Marlborough testified on behalf of the city of New York. They gave the value of the farm as a whole as $8,000 and testified that it was impossible to value as separate entities growing trees or fruit bushes for which no market exists and which cannot often be replanted. They based their value on what they felt the farm would sell for in the market, buttressed by their knowledge of comparable sales.

Henry R. Bright appeared for the city of New York with Vincent G. Connolly of counsel.

On June 18 Delaware Section 5 Commission will take a view of the Infantone parcel. No hearings are scheduled, since no further claimants have evidenced a willingness to proceed.

Smart Clerk—No; we sell them.
Customer—You are going to keep the one you might have sold me if you had not been so all-fired smart.

You can't judge by appearances—the laziest man often has the hardest-working stomach.

Sheriff—Stop! Can you tell me what you were doing on the nights of March 21st, 22nd and 23rd?

St. Anthony's chapel, near Festina, Iowa, holds 8 persons.

A colored man found the firing at the front in France too hot for him. So he said to his feet: "Feet, do your stuff!" and he soon found himself far from the place where the bullets were flying. He was still running when an officer stopped him.

Officer—Halt! What are you doing?
Runaway—Me? Ah'm puttin' as much space as Ah kin between me and them Germans!

Officer—Go back and fight!
Runaway—Who is you to tell me to go back and fight?

Officer—I am a general.
Runaway—Good Lord! Ah didn't know Ah wuz so far back.

In the good old days when the wife followed her husband out to the sidewalk every morning and was home to meet him at night it was hard for a lodge to even rake up a quorum.

SWAT THEM NOW!—Flies are the most numerous and the most dangerous of all the enemies of man.

Storekeeper—What kind of soap do you want, little boy?
Little Boy—Just any kind that's got lots of perfume in it so Mother can smell it and won't make me wash all over again.

It is useless to try to tell the younger generation they don't know it all. Let them alone and in a few years they will find out they did not know any more than we did at their age.

The ferry boat was only a few feet out from the wharf when there was a great commotion on the dock. A man rushed madly through the crowd. Without pausing in his stride he flung his grip aboard, and took a flying leap for the boat. He slipped and started to fall into the water, but grasped a rail and, with the help of the dock hands, scrambled to the deck in safety.

"Good," he gasped, "Another second and I would have missed her."
"Missed her?" returned the astonished passenger, "Why the ferry boat is just coming in."

No matter how hard he finds it on general principles to satisfy folks the average fellow can easily satisfy himself.

Hollis—Why so sad, my friend?
Dallas—Last night I was going to tell my girl friend that I was entirely unworthy of her.

Hollis—Yes?
Dallas—And she he at me to it.

It is easy to expect too much and to do too little in bringing about what we expect.

Agent—Don't you want your office furnishings insured against theft?
Manager—Yes, all except the clock. Everybody watches that.

No one speaks any more pleasant to a newspaper editor than a man who has been in trouble and expects to be in some more.

A college education never hurt a man, unless he refuses to learn a few things after he graduated.

Test for Fishermen

The mighty Salmon river, which cuts through the wilderness north of Sun Valley lodge in Idaho, was never navigated downstream until a little over 40 years ago. At that time an old river man, Harry Guleke, built a special flat-bottomed boat and rode the boiling rapids downstream from Salmon City. The same type of boat is favored in riding the river. The Salmon, which once turned back the expedition led by Lewis and Clark in 1805, has never been conquered upstream.

WORLD FLOCKS TO SEE BIRD PARADISE

Keeper of Aviary Makes Pets of Rare Kinds.

Vancouver, B. C.—True to its propensity for beating a path to the doorway of the innovator, the world is swinging from its wonted course to reach the door of Charles E. Jones, of Vancouver, whose bird paradise is the only thing of its kind in the world.

This unique aviary, where 50 varieties of small birds are raised "by hand," is situated in a small back yard, and the approaching visitor can hear the orchestra long before he is able to see the musicians.

This to guide him to the spot. When Mr. Jones established his aviary in 1930 he was returning to an early love. He was born in England fifty-eight years ago, and as a boy revealed his gifts as a naturalist. He used to amaze the grown-ups by keeping such groups of pets as a magpie, a jackdaw, a pair of pigeons, a fox terrier, a Persian cat and a Belgian hare all together in an enclosure. And they didn't fight!

Feathered Friends.

Today he numbers his feathered friends in the hundreds. Besides hosts of canaries, he has dozens of varieties of native small birds, and many importations.

All of the birds are quite fearless. They swarm over Mr. Jones, his three sons, his dog and visitors. The robins tweak the lobe of your ear when told to "ring the bell." The meadow lark lies on his back and uses his claws in a sham boxing match with his master. The birds pry open your lips with their beaks to see if there are peanuts between your teeth.

The Lady Amherst cock pheasant—aristocrat and wildest thing of the pheasant tribe—eats nonchalantly from your hand without the formality of an introduction.

The diamond sparrow, native of Australia and so wild that in his native home he must be killed to be seen at close range, lights on your nose and peers impudently at you, his head on one side. Mr. and Mrs. Robin get their daily ration of worms for the family out of a pail held in the hand of Mr. Jones.

No Fear of People.

The birds ask for no certificate of character. If Mr. Jones has admitted you, that is good enough for them. They swarm all over you, and you must place your feet carefully to avoid crushing them.

The raising of small birds in this way is frowned upon by the authorities. The bird books advise against it as a game that is "not worth the candle." But Mr. Jones has reduced the process to a fine art. His birds are every bit as healthy as those raised in the fields, and the infant mortality in his aviary is almost negligible.

Mr. Jones' is probably the most famous back yard on this continent. His birds have been the subject of three or four newsreels, and a feature, "Going Places," now being screened.

Mr. Jones has had plenty of opportunities to turn his mastery of bird culture into cash, but he scorns commercialism. Many have tried to lure him into the commercial breeding of pet birds, and other ventures where the name of Jones on the doorplate would spell certain success. But to all such overtures he turns a deaf ear.

What he wants to do is exactly what he is doing now, but on a much larger scale. To raise birds, not in hundreds, but in thousands.

He envisions a huge aviary built in natural surroundings, such as the birds would choose for themselves. Here the student or tourist could study bird life at close range.

Gripping Movies Keep Air Conditioners Busy

Ann Arbor, Mich.—"Dripping," and not "gripping," is the word the air-conditioning engineer uses to describe a melodrama that has the customers sitting on the edges of their seats.

Normally the average adult evaporates off about a tenth of a pound of moisture an hour, but under the influence of torrid romance or gangster movie, this amount may increase by 50 per cent, according to Professor Axel Marin of the University of Michigan college of engineering.

On a summer day, if 1,000 persons are viewing a dull to medium picture, the ventilating system must take care of about 100 pounds of moisture per hour. But let G-men surround some crooks and start a convincing machine gun battle and the air-conditioning apparatus will have to handle 150 pounds of moisture.

Sale for Blind Committee Named

The annual sale for the blind is being conducted at the corner of Broadway and Albany avenue, continuing through Saturday, June 19, offering handiwork of those who have suffered the loss of their sight. As usual the articles selected for sale are of the usual high standard, both hand and machine made, and the variety is wide. More than 375,000 aprons were made by the blind during the year.

On Saturday, June 12, the following committees will have charge of the sale:

10 a. m. to 2 p. m.—Reformed Church of the Comforter, Mrs. Saul Smith, chairman; Mrs. Frank Brown, nails.

Many Helped Make Camp Successful

Officials who planned and conducted the Camp-O-ree for the Boy Scouts at the 156th Field Artillery Armory last week have expressed thanks to all those who helped to make the event a success by lending suggestions, active work or materials.

Those outside the Scout organization that helped were men of the church federation who acted as judges; David Conway and his men on the Board of Public Works; James Loughran and the workers on the highway department; Central Hudson for extending the power line; Alderman Paul Zucca for helping with the music; Salvation Army for

Red Fingernails in Suit

San Francisco.—Just what tint of red finger nails justifies ejection from a public place is a question for the courts to decide. Mrs. Alta Moore has filed a $10,000 damage suit on the grounds she was ejected from a local sports stadium because she had "slaughterhouse finger-nails."

HELP 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

To Flush out Acids and Other Poisonous Waste

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people use about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of water. Frequent or scanty passages with burning and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys and bladder. An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorder, may be the beginning of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Elaborate Revue At Broadway Theatre

A capacity audience enjoyed the eighth annual dance recital Wednesday evening, at the Broadway Theatre, presented by the Casbin School of Dancing under the direction of Helen Casbin Davis.

Generous applause acknowledged each dance number featuring the pupils in the various classes of the Casbin School, from the smallest tots to the more advanced students of the dance.

The revue was given following the first showing of the picture. The stage settings and lighting effects including the elaborate silk cyclorama, were brilliant and spectacular. The costuming of the dancers, which was sophisticated and picturesque, was executed by Mrs. Rose Havlin of St. Remy.

Star of the revue was Miss Jane Ball, who did a specialty toe number. She also was seen with Bernard Ferraro in an exhibition waltz and tap dance.

Solos were done by Charlotte Havlin, Charlotte Norton, Leola Saddle-mire, Sally Oaks, Louise Schlesinger, Mary Turner, Blossom Barnott, George Shufeldt and Jean Boss.

Duet numbers were carried by Maureen Peters and Gerard Schaezel, Janet Schulz and Jimmy Roe, Marvin Mullins and Dan Briggs, Audrey Raderberg and Anne Tietney. Trio numbers were comprised of Anne Johnson, Virginia Ferguson, Natalie Fuller, Doris Merrihew, Anne Donovan and Gloria Newman.

In a brief address eloquent of the efforts of the teachers at the Academy of St. Ursula, Marygrove, this city and with words of praise for the range of attainments displayed by all the pupils of the elementary department, the Very Rev. John J. Stanley, of St. Mary's Church, on Wednesday afternoon formally closed the lower school's activities for the year.

The exercises were held at 4 o'clock in the auditorium before the parents, relatives and friends of the pupils, and at the close certificates of promotion to the senior department of the academy were awarded to the Misses Barbara Dawe, Margaret Garavan, Patricia Miller, Bernice Nolan and Joan Weber.

The stage of the auditorium, upon which graduates of the elementary department were seated at the opening of the exercises, was decorated in a manner similar to that which marked the high school commencement on June 2. The central theme was a shrine of the Blessed Mother in a bower of roses.

The first selection on the well arranged program was a chorus by the graduates, "Worship of Nature," by Ehmman. This was followed by a piano solo, Thome's "Fappilions Roses" given skillfully by the talented young pianist, Miss Amelia Altamari. Miss Altamari, who plays with a grace and technique of one far beyond her very few years, also appeared later in the program, in a solo number which she did exceedingly well, the difficult "Serenade" by Piere.

Following Miss Altamari's first selection, Miss Cynthia Van Gonsic, a piano student, was heard in a creditable rendition of Streabog's "Les Etolies d'Or."

Next a recitation in French, Ratisbonne's "La Lecture dans les Etolies," was given by members of the primary grades. This was followed by a group playlet by all the students, which in effect and execution was little short of amazing and showed the remarkable ability of the teachers in coordinating the efforts of the very young with the more mature pupils.

Excellent Playlet

The major part of the program was devoted to the presentation of the playlet, "The Star Visit." This was a fantasy written especially for the group. The theme which concerned the visit of the stars and planets to a student who is dreaming was developed not only with dialogue but also included songs, poems and dances. The part of Astrid was taken by Miss Bernice Nolan and that of Stella by Miss Patricia Miller. The Baby Stars, the younger members of the stars were Nancy Jane Keyes, Patricia Cowdrey, Janet Gruver, Joan Van Gonsic, Nancy Crowley, Gail Holcomb, Thomas Armstrong and William Garavan.

The parts of the Star Children were taken by the intermediate pupils: Marion Gage, Jeanne Marie de la Vergne, Anne de la Vergne, Peggy Rosenberg and Eva Dunbar. One of the most charming parts of the playlet was the dance given by 10 members of the school. They were dressed in gold satin gowns, made in Grecian style with midnight blue scarfs with silver metal stars. The dancers were Betty Ruzzo, Helma Rosenberg, Jane Anne Forst, Mary Ellen Fuller, Joan Van Gonsic, Cynthia Van Gonsic, Maureen Peters, Eugene Cooney, Gretchen Pence and Jacqueline McNamara.

Others in the cast were: Orion, Miss Joan Weber; Cassiappa, Miss Patricia McCabe; Great Dipper, Miss Barbara Dawe; North Star, Miss Margaret Garavan; Little Dipper, Amelia Altamari; Mars, Miss Constance Savatgy, and Milky Way, Miss Nancy Wortman.

A piano solo, "Mignonette," by Lichner, was then well played by a student of very early years, Miss Betty Ruzzo.

Two piano solos concluded the entertainment, the first "Mignonette" by Lichner, played by Miss Betty Ruzzo, and Piere's "Serenade" by Miss Amelia Altamari.

The Rev. John J. Stanley, P. R. V. F., then presented the awards, prefacing their distribution with congratulations to the class upon their accomplishments. Referring to the playlet, Father Stanley reminded his audience of the faithfulness and dependability of the stars which always obeyed the laws implicitly. He also explained to the class that in a small school they had had ample opportunity for character development and character building under the expert guidance of the faculty who made a point of combining instruction in worldly knowledge with fine spiritual direction.

Four members of the Senior Class of the Academy then acted as tablers in distributing the awards. They were Miss Anna May Weishaup, Miss Isabelle Flynn, Miss McGowan, Bennett and Miss Esther McGowan. The Academy will reopen on September 13, and already applications indicate the school will enjoy perhaps its biggest year.

Willie Smith Scores Only Knockout Over Italian Amateurs

Willie Smith, Harlem negro south-paw, who fought on the mayor's industrial committee cards here as a Golden Glover, was the only American to score a knockout in the Yankee Stadium, New York, Wednesday night when Uncle Sam's leather slingers lost to the Italian amateur team.

An Associated Press report about the fight program stated: Apparently Benito Mussolini is as adept at handing out fight talks as the most oratorical football coach—and much more successful.

The Italian Premier wired the Italian amateur boxing team a ringing message before they went into action against a squad of American fighters at the Yankee Stadium last night. Result—The Italians won, six matches to five, and took the International Golden Gloves title.

The show, which, although it provided only one knockout, carried plenty of action. The knockout came when Willie Smith, a negro southpaw from Harlem, floored Federico Cornacelli, Italian featherweight, three times in the second round and the referee stopped the bout.

Dudley and Walsh Lead.

Birmingham, Mich., June 10 (AP).—Ripping two shots from par apiece as they toured the course together in sensational style, big Ed Dudley and Philadelphia and Frank Walsh, rival Chicago pros, posted a pair of 70's today to take the lead in the first round of the U. S. Open Golf Championship at the Oakland Hills Country Club.

SUTTER, RIGGS, HUNT ALL LOOK LIKE CHAMPS

Nashville, Tenn., June 10 (AP).—Displaying a vastly improved game, 20-year-old Ernie Sutter of New Orleans joined Bobby Riggs and Joe Hunt today as the favored competitors for title honors in the 52nd annual Southern Amateur tennis tournament.

He faced a crucial test today in a match with Walter Senior, San Francisco, who is seeded fourth. One notch above the New Orleans stroker, Sutter won the Southern last summer and also is National Inter-collegiate champion.

Sutter breezed through Richard Tindall, Jr., St. Louis, yesterday, 6-1, 6-3. Senior earned the right to meet Sutter with a 6-1, 6-2 margin over Kimbark Peterson, Nashville. Riggs, the Los Angeles sharpshooter seeded first, faced little Frank Guernsey, Orlando, Fla., and Joel Hunt, rated second and also of Los Angeles, engaged Russell Bobbitt, Atlanta.

MAN O' WAR'S GRANDDAUGHTER TO RECOVER FROM BROKEN LEG

San Francisco, June 10 (AP).—A tiny granddaughter of mighty Man O'War is showing the old championship fight in a different way than race track speed.

The six-week-old filly, too young to have a name but direct descendant of the "wonder horse" of 1929, is recovering from a broken leg—with a 50-50 chance of running in the future.

On the ranch of C. S. Howard, near Willits in northern California, the frisky youngster stepped in a squirrel hole and broke its right hind leg. Dr. Raymond S. Babcock, physician and surgeon of Willits, stepped out of character briefly to operate on an animal.

No Evidence of Weakness
Berlin, June 10 (AP).—The German commission investigating the Hindenburg disaster reported today that it could find no evidence that structural or mechanical defect in the ship or faulty handling during the landing caused the fire. "Technically the ship was in perfect condition when it prepared for landing," the report stated. The commission, which returned recently from Lakehurst, N. J., will continue its efforts to find the cause of the explosion.

140,836 PEOPLE HAVE SWITCHED FROM OTHER CARS TO DODGE IN PAST YEAR!

Read What Some of Them Say—Learn How Dodge Saves Them Money!

IN the past year, 140,836 people have switched from other cars to Dodge—these in addition to the thousands upon thousands of enthusiastic Dodge owners who say they will drive no other car but Dodge!

New Dodge owners, who previously thought they could not afford so big and fine a car as Dodge, say that Dodge savings on gas, oil, tires and upkeep will more than offset the difference in price and that Dodge will actually cost them less than the small, competitive-make cars they traded in!

Many another new Dodge owner, long accustomed to high-priced cars, reports more satisfaction from Dodge than from more expensive cars. Think of it...owner after owner reporting 18 to 24 miles per gallon of gas, saving up to 20% on oil, with additional savings on tires, lubrication and upkeep!

See and drive this 1937 Dodge. Take the free economy test—see right before your eyes how Dodge saves on gas! Learn how you, too, can switch to Dodge and save money!

"We'll save $70 before the year is out," says a Gladys McGill of Barron, Wis. "Using our old smaller car for comparison, we're getting 8 more miles to the gallon from our gorgeous new Dodge. Our oil and lubrication costs are much lower."

"I've pumped enough gas to know just about what any car will do on a gallon. So, even though I'm in the business, I insist on a car that's long on gas mileage. That's why I switched to Dodge. I'm getting 22 miles to the gallon regularly."—R. W. Holmes, Los Angeles.

"You can't beat Dodge for economy," said Jimmie Haskelson, Valley Park, Mo. "I am getting 21 miles to the gallon of gas which is 7 miles more than my old car gave me. At the rate I drive, that will mean close to $100 saved by the time I have had this new Dodge a year."

IVANHOE Mayonnaise DOUBLE FLAVOR

TELLS YOU why

Saves you money

Maybe we shouldn't have invited a man—and a chemist, at that!—into the kitchen! But, we are glad we did—for he uncovered a flavor-secret about mayonnaise that every expert salad-maker will welcome.

The pictures tell the story! Because Ivanhoe Mayonnaise is made with twice the flavor ingredients—because it contains twice as many egg yolks as ordinary mayonnaise—you can use much less Ivanhoe on every salad. And you will not be sacrificing one bit of flavor or appetizing goodness, either. For Ivanhoe is so rich, so creamy, so golden with stored-up sunshine, that just a little makes any salad a taste-tempting treat.

Of course, you will use Ivanhoe primarily for its fascinating flavor. But, isn't it nice to know that there's a real economy, too! Order a jar of Ivanhoe Mayonnaise—a pint or an even more economical quart—from your grocer today.

New York City Water Supply System Will Drain 1,527 Square Miles Into Reservoirs of 532.9 Billion Gallons

Development of the upper Rondout Creek water shed by the City of New York through the erection of a dam at Lackawack will add to the storage capacity of the city's water supply an additional 51,000,000,000 gallons of water and will add an additional water shed of 94 square miles to the system.

The development of the upper Rondout creek by erecting a dam at Lackawack is the first step in the proposed plan to take from the Rondout and Delaware water shed a supply of water which it is expected will supply the great metropolitan area with an adequate supply of water for many years to come. A second step in the project is the development of the Neversink supply with a dam near Neversink which will give an additional 42,000,000,000 gallons of water and which will drain 93 square miles of territory in the Catskill area. The next step in the huge program for water will be the damming of the East Branch of the Delaware river by a great dam near Downsville and which will back water up the valley to a point not far from Margaretville. This East Branch development on the Delaware projects planned in the system and will form a huge reservoir with a storage capacity of 157,500,000,000 gallons of water. The watershed will comprise an area of 372 square miles, an area far greater than that of either the Ashokan or the Gilboa development.

In the future there will be developed the Willemuc and Beaverkill streams but these projects probably will not be undertaken for some years. Completion of the Rondout and Neversink and the large East Branch development will probably supply the needs of the city of New York for a long period of years but the Beaverkill and Willemuc streams will be held in reserve for future development.

Comparison of Watersheds
A comparison of the watersheds, reservoir storage capacities and flow lines or elevations of the various reservoirs as taken from facts published by the Board of Water Supply of the City of New York forms a most interesting story.

Prior to 1917 the city of New York obtained its water supply from the drainage area of the Croton river east of the Hudson river, and from wells tapping the underground sources of the county of Nassau and in the boroughs of Brooklyn, Queens and Richmond. In 1917 the delivery of water from the Catskill system was begun, and by 1926 there was available the entire supply from the streams and rivulets rising in the wild, lofty forest lands of the Schoharie and Esopus watersheds in the Catskill mountains. This pure and wholesome water is delivered by the Catskill aqueduct to the five boroughs of the city.

From the northerly slopes of the Catskills to the southerly bounds of the city on Staten Island this water travels a distance of 153 miles and the Catskill system now has a capacity of 600 million gallons daily.

Schoharie reservoir is six miles long and three-quarters of a mile in maximum width and holds 20 billion gallons. The reservoir is formed by Gilboa dam which is composed of two parts, an overflow masonry portion 1,324 feet long and of a maximum height of 182 feet, and an earth dike section with a concrete core-wall 700 feet long. The crest of the dam is at a height of 1,130 feet above sea level. This elevation is known as the "flow line."

With its comparatively small storage capacity in conjunction with its vast watershed of 314 square miles it becomes necessary to keep the Schoharie reservoir drained as closely as possible for a sudden shower frequently causes a run off which rapidly fills the comparatively small basin. Schoharie water is run through Shandaken tunnel under the mountains to the Esopus valley and the Schoharie water which normally would find its way into the Mohawk river is run "backward" and sent to the Ashokan reservoir.

Ashokan's Huge Storage
Despite its huge storage capacity Ashokan reservoir has a drainage area of but 257 square miles while Gilboa reservoir with a nominal storage capacity has 314 square miles of drainage area. This fact indicates why Gilboa reservoir fills up so rapidly after a heavy rainfall and requires almost a constant draining through the Shandaken tunnel to Ashokan. Shandaken tunnel is 18 miles long, driven through solid rock and was at its completion one of the longest tunnels in the world.

Ashokan reservoir with a length of 12 miles and a maximum width of three miles has a water surface equal in area to that of Manhattan Island below 110th street. It has a storage capacity of 130,600,000,000 gallons and this water is sufficient to cover Manhattan Island to a depth of 30 feet. The reservoir is formed by the Olive Bridge or Brown Station dam which is 4,650 feet long with a maximum height of 252 feet. The construction is masonry and earth embankment across the valley of the former Esopus creek. Earthen dikes with concrete core walls and the dividing dike between the east and west basins of the Ashokan have a total length of 5 1/2 miles. The west basin when full is 590 feet above sea level while the east basin is three feet lower. The flow line of the Ashokan reservoir is fixed at 590 feet.

600 Million Gallons.

The Catskill aqueduct, 92 miles in length, takes the water from Ashokan to New York city at a capacity of 600 million gallons per 24 hours. Of the total length of the aqueduct about 55 miles is cut and cover type. Grade tunnels through mountains total 14 miles and are of slightly smaller dimensions than the cut and cover sections but through both these sections the water flows along at a normal pressure such as it might in an open channel. In valleys where the water could not be carried along at its normal flow elevation except by building viaducts of great height and length as was done by the old Roman works, so called "pressure tunnels" were used. Here the hard rock forms a pipe which has been lined with concrete to make the walls smooth and cause the water to flow more swiftly. At each end of these "pressure tunnels" are vertical shafts also in solid rock. This "pressure tunnel" system is all deep in rock formation to resist bursting pressure. The "pressure tunnel" construction takes up some 17 miles. Across small valleys steel riveted pipe encased in concrete and lined with cement mortar is laid in trenches just below the surface of the ground and is known as "steel-pipe siphon" type. This totals six miles.

In Westchester county, 30 miles north of city hall, is Kensico reservoir. Its purpose is to provide a storage capacity near the city to insure a supply of water in case of emergency should anything happen to the Catskill aqueduct above that reservoir. Kensico dam is built across Bronx river at Valhalla and the capacity of the reservoir is 29,000,000,000 gallons and its flow is 355 feet above sea level. Kensico dam was one of the greatest masonry structures in the world when completed and contains nearly one million cubic yards of masonry of which however, only about one third is visible above the surface of the ground. At its highest point the dam rises 307 feet above the rock foundation on which it rests.

Smoothing Reservoir.
From Kensico reservoir the Catskill system carries its load of water into Hill View reservoir located on the highest ground in the city of Yonkers just north of the New York city line. This reservoir has a capacity of 900 million gallons and acts to smooth out the difference between the steady flow of the aqueduct and the irregular use of water in the city at various hours of the day. This reservoir is formed by earthen dikes and is lined with concrete. Its flow line is 295 feet above sea level.

From the Hill View reservoir the water is delivered to the city's five boroughs through pressure tunnels.

Some of the Ashokan water is delivered to New York city at such pressure as to make pumping to moderate buildings unnecessary. One of the problems of the city is to provide an equalized demand upon all systems so that each watershed may be called upon to deliver its own quota of the demand.

In certain sections of the city in mid-town where Catskill water is delivered direct to the consumer from the pressure mains the moderately high buildings have found it unnecessary to install pumps. In such instances if trouble develops and Catskill water is not available this section of town would suffer hardship and so in order to prevent any such shortage of water through depletion of the Catskill water or some other difficulty the Board of Water Supply at all times attempts to control the supply and cause each one of the units to provide its own quota of water to be consumed so that none of the individual reservoirs may become low from excessive demand upon it.

The capacity of the numerous reservoirs of the City of New York, totaling 532.9 billion gallons, is:

Ashokan 130.6 billion gallons.
Croton system 103.1 billion gallons.
Kensico 29.2 billion gallons.
Rondout (under construction) 51 billion gallons.
Neversink (proposed) 42 billion gallons.
East Delaware (proposed) 157.5 billion gallons.

A Vast System.
When the vast system is completed the city of New York will receive its supply of water from an area of 1,527 square miles of drainage territory and in addition will be supplemented with underground sources on Long Island and Staten Island from pumping plants. The Ashokan drainage area is 257 square miles. Schoharie 314 square miles. Rondout 94 square miles. Neversink 92 square miles. Delaware project 372 square miles. Croton water shed 375 square miles. Bronx and Byram system 22 square miles of territory.

The flow line or elevation of the various reservoirs above sea level is:

Schoharie 1,130 feet. Ashokan 590 feet. Kensico 355 feet. Hillview 295 feet. East Delaware (project) 1,280 feet. Neversink (project) 1,450 feet. Rondout (building) 840 feet. Croton 201 feet.

The Rondout and Delaware waters will reach New York city through a pressure tunnel which will run deep under-ground through solid rock all the way and will enter in the West Branch reservoir and the upper elevations of Croton at an elevation of 502 feet and go eventually to Hill View or Kensico reservoirs for distribution.

A cornfield a thousand years old and a domed earthen council house are among the remainders of long-vanished peoples who once occupied the vicinity of what is now Macon, Ga.

Functional And Realistic —That's The New Spirit

The new spirit in architecture is dynamic, functional, realistic. It is opposed to the classical spirit, which is static, abstract, idealized.

If you like the new spirit, this house should appeal. It is built of frameless steel panels, so assembled as to present smooth surfaces, on both outside and inside walls.

As in so many new houses, the dining room is not partitioned off from the living room. The aim, of course, is spaciousness.

The architects who designed this $5,000 house are Hays, Simpson and Hunsicker. It was built at Cleveland. The plan was selected by the Architectural Forum, 135 E. 42nd St., New York, N. Y.

The Wonderly Co.

Jewish Educator To Appear Here

DR. J. S. GOLUB

The Rev. Dr. Jacob S. Golub, prominent Jewish educator and author, will be the guest speaker at the regional convention in the Congregation Ahavath Israel, Sunday, June 13, arranged by the local Zionist committee.

Other speakers will be Rabbi Teller of Kingston who will give the invocation and Morris Rothenberg, who will deliver his address in the evening at the convention dinner in Friedman's Hotel, Rifton. Rabbi Herbert L. Bloom of 225 Main street, and Morris H. Newman are in charge of reservations for the banquet.

Dr. Golub's rich and varied experience as an author and educator promises a message of unusual importance on the subject, "Zionism and Education." Some of his literary works are "Israel and Canaan," "In the Days of the First Temple" and "In the Days of the Second Temple."

A native of Bialystok, Poland, Dr. Golub came to the United States in December, 1906. He was graduated from the Teachers' Institute of the Jewish Theological Seminary in 1913, in 1918 received his B. A. degree from C. C. N. Y., in 1922 an LL. B. from the New York Law School, and in 1928, a Ph. D. from New York University.

Dr. Golub has been principal and educational director of the Central Jewish Institute, head of the department of supervision and materials of the Board of Jewish Education of Chicago, executive director of the Bureau of Jewish Education and at present is educational director of the Zionist Organization of America.

Sir Robert Borden Dies in Canada

Ottawa, Ont., June 10 (Canadian Press) — Sir Robert L. Borden, World War prime minister of Canada, died here today at the age of 82.

Canada's "elder statesman" took a sudden turn for the worse late yesterday when signs of "acute cardiac failure" developed.

The last bulletin on the former premier, issued shortly after dawn, said he was "pretty low." Death came at 6:30 a. m. eastern standard time.

Souvenir Hunters Take Jean's Flowers

Glendale, Calif., June 10 (AP)—The body of Jean Harlow rested today in a cemetery crypt which was snatched bare of flowers by souvenir hunters. The remains may be cremated. If not, they will be placed in a mausoleum in Forest Lawn Memorial Park. Barred from the funeral service yesterday, a crowd waited for hours outside the cemetery, hoping at least to see some of the 200 film notables inside. This they missed but after the brief service was finished and everybody was gone, they rushed through unlocked gates and scrambled for bits of the thousands of flowers. Some had to be content with tiny scraps of fern. One little girl carefully placed in her purse a few petals from a rose.

One floral token, however, went with the platinum blonde screen star to her resting place. Placed in her hand just before the casket was closed for the last time, it was a single gardenia, her favorite flower, with the inscription, "Goodnight, my dearest darling."

The card was unsigned but the handwriting was believed to be that of William Powell, constant escort of Miss Harlow in recent months, who was among the most obviously grief-stricken at the funeral.

Damage mounted into the thousands of dollars in Union City, Mustang, Cushing, Maud, Moore and Saksakwa, in central Oklahoma. The third Texas twister in a week leveled barns and small buildings near Graham, Tex. Mrs. Fannie Thornton, 68-year-old widow, died of injuries received when the storm flattened her farm home near Mustang, Okla.

Platinum was the first metal used in the wires of electric lamps.

U. P. A. STORES

OLD GLORY TO WAVE ON 160th BIRTHDAY

Old Glory has been the symbol of our country since 1777, when it was adopted by the Continental Congress. At left: An artist's conception of the U. S. Marines displaying the National Flag and their regimental colors. Right: Betsy Ross, traditional maker of the first Stars and Stripes. Below: The rattlesnake and Grand Union flags, forerunners of Old Glory.

Eight score years have passed since Old Glory became the flag of our country, and its birthday will be celebrated on June 14. Almost 160 years ago, its colors wave over our nation as a symbol of justice to those who seek liberty under its folds. It is the most beautiful of all national flags.

Tradition points to Betsy Ross as needlewoman whose fingers, with loving care, first brought the Stars and Stripes, but the original Star Spangled Banner is unknown and it is difficult to either prove or disprove the tradition.

Before the Revolution there were many flags, some of them bearing eagles, pine trees, anchors, rattlesnakes and other insignia, each of them favored by one of the several colonies. The Grand Union Flag, in which the British Jack was shown where the stars now appear in a blue field, was the immediate ancestor of Old Glory.

Both the Grand Union Flag and one bearing a rattlesnake design were carried ashore in the Bahamas in 1776, when U. S. Marines and blue-jackets captured guns and ammunition from the British. During its brief career the former flag was accorded many honors, but it was never formally acknowledged by Congress.

Since June 14, 1777, our only flag has been the Stars and Stripes, because on that date it was officially adopted by the Continental Congress. From time to time changes in the numbers of stars or stripes have been authorized, but the basic design remains much the same.

There have been many highlights in our flag's history. John Paul Jones' frigate Ranger received a salute from the French in Quiberon Bay, February 14, 1778, the first salute to the Stars and Stripes from a foreign power. Lieutenant Presley N. O'Bannon, of the U. S. Marines, hoisted it at Derne, Tripoli, in April, 1805, the first time it was ever flown over a fortress of the Old World.

By the dawn's early light, September 14, 1814, Francis Scott Key saw the Star Spangled Banner floating over Fort McHenry and composed the song which is now our national anthem. Our flag has been beloved by Americans, eulogized by statesmen, and carried to every part of the globe. In recent years it has been the custom to observe June 14, the anniversary of our flag's adoption, as Flag Day.

THEATRE PROJECT WOULD BE BOON TO CITY

Editor, Freeman:

My little say regarding Rudolph Redene-Floffe's theatre project for Kingston may not amount to much at the whole plan, if supported to the point of success, would be a boon to this city in many ways. It would be a local dramatic talent a wonderful opportunity for expression and would help to create a better understanding relative to the aims of a theatre of this type.

The only sure means of measuring the project of this nature lies in the enthusiasm of the public. The theatre could live solely on public support and acceptance and the calibre of its entertainment would naturally correspond to the amount of enthusiasm shown toward it. I sincerely hope, as one interested in the theatre, that the meeting tonight at the Municipal Auditorium will draw a large and receptive audience.

ANN HERZOG OLSON.

Miss Marion P. Thomas, of the Utica Garden Club, had one definite reaction in cautioning other members against the forest caterpillar. Describing the pest, similar to the tent worm except that it builds no tents, Miss Thomas told club members it had "lovely markings of blue." "It's a pity," she added, "that nature wastes such beautiful colors on such horrible things."

If a boy wants friends he goes out of his way to be nice to those he meets. If he wants birds as friends, he may even go so far as to provide a house for them. They are certain to move in if the house is placed high enough above the ground to assure safety from cats and other bird enemies.

CLAUDE E. JACOBI

New York, June 10 (AP)—Buyers nibbled at selected steels, rails and specialties in today's stock market and exhibited little appetite for many other issues.

Early gains of fractions to 2 or more points were reduced later and minor losses were fairly well distributed near the final hour. Dealings were even slower than yesterday. Transfers were at the rate of about 550,000 shares.

Bonds improved in spots. Commodities were uneven and leading foreign currencies lower in terms of the dollar.

Stocks displaying forward leanings the greater part of the day included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Republic, Inland Steel, Atlantic Coast Line, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Great Northern, Baltimore & Ohio, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, General Electric, Du Pont, Canada Dry, American Shipbuilding, Lehman Corp., Greyhound Corp., American Telephone and Western Union.

In a restricted area were General Motors, Chrysler, Goodyear, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Consolidated Edison, Anaconda, Kennecott, Standard Oil of N. J. and Borden. "B" and Liggett & Myers, "C" treated, along with Phillips Petroleum, Plymouth Oil, Libby-Owens and J. I. Case.

Douglas Aircraft was given an upward shove on announcement of a large War Department order for bombing planes.

Cordis Auxiliary Meeting

There will be a meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Cordis Hose Friday, June 11, and all members are requested to attend.

Oversupply of Gold May Now Be Solved

A possibility that the question of an oversupply of gold may be solved through a natural curb on production is seen in the announcement that because of rising costs, as the chief factor, there is a material lessening in the rate of increase in production of both gold and silver throughout the world and particularly in the United States. Thus, there may be no need of regulatory laws. April gold output, with the exception of the short month of February, was the smallest in a year for the United States and the smallest in five months for the world as a whole. However, it is still probable that production of gold in 1937 will exceed 1936, which was the highest on record.

Offerings of gold in London yesterday were the smallest since the beginning of the present crisis. From Cape Town comes word that the position of gold is not in danger, that the price will be maintained.

Stocks were listless and lower yesterday in a 620,000 share market. Industrials dropped 0.35 point, rails were up 0.10, utilities declined 0.25, on the Dow-Jones average.

There was demand for high grade railroad and industrial bonds; government bonds were easy. Commodities were active. Cotton was off about $1 a bale. Grains closed a shade higher. Steel production, reflecting labor troubles, is estimated at about 8 points lower for the week ended June 7.

Freight loadings for week ended June 5 are estimated at 685,000 cars, a more than seasonal decrease.

The machine tools order index, which reached an all-time peak of 282.5 in April, is expected to drop to around 200 for May, which compares with 118.9 a year ago.

Good business during the immediate future is seen for agricultural equipment makers and mail order houses; may continue for remainder of the year.

The recent sharp drop in volume of trading has again brought up the subject of higher commission rates on stock and bonds transactions.

Tide Water Associated Oil earned $1,372,128 in April, or 19 cents a share, highest for any month since 1929.

Retail sales of Cadillac and La Salle in May were 5,273 units, a record high for the month.

United Light & Power reported net of $5,216,036 in 12 months ended April 30 vs. net of $3,323,953 in previous year.

American Light & Traction had net of $5,341,754 in 12 months ended April 30, vs. $4,763,111 a year ago.

Lehman Corp. declared a special dividend of $1.50; Air Reduction ordered a 75 cent extra.

Secretary of Commerce Roper said current labor troubles have not damaged business activities "as a whole." He said that the general increase in business in from 15 to 20 per cent over the first quarter of last year and that May figures indicate that the gain is being maintained.

A letter was read from Mrs. Sara Donovan stating she had delivered flowers to Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Lent, charter members who were unable to be present and appreciated the privilege.

A motion was carried to hold parties or teas at the home of members during the summer for the benefit of the chapter. Appreciation was extended Mrs. Gertrude Coulter for baskets presented for use in degree work and to Mrs. Ethel Bradshaw for use of her car for the Memorial Day parade.

The charter members present, Right Worthy Suzanne Decker, Mrs. Eva Starr, Mrs. Dora Wilkoff, Mrs. Florence Palmer were greeted with appropriate words by the worthy matron. Mrs. Decker, mother of the chapter, gave a helpful address and brief remarks were made by other charter members. Secretary Cottine read the minutes of the organization meeting in their honor. Mrs. Decker was the first matron. The chapter was instituted May 29. An impressive degree, "The March of Time," was given in honor of the birthday and charter members. A grandfather clock was arranged in the doorway through which those taking part entered the hall. Each carried a pendulum. Mrs. Cora Parks carried a basket of flowers. A birthday cake with candles was the center decoration with large candles representing the star points arranged on the table and a border of purple iris. Mrs. Florence Platt lighted the center candle on the cake in memory of the charter members. As each star point spoke she lighted the color appropriate to her station. The 31 candles on the cake representative of the birthday years were lighted one by one as the secretary read names of worthy matrons and worthy patrons and the years they served by associate matron Mrs. Ethel D. Bradshaw. In behalf of the chapter Colonial bouquets were presented to the charter members in the five colors of the Star with ribbon streamers to match. These were donated by Mrs. Sara Donovan.

The Seasons

Our seasons are caused by the fact that the earth's axis is tilted 23 degrees, 27 minutes from perpendicular to the plane of its path around the sun. Hence the sun's rays strike the earth at a constantly varying angle and only twice during the year, when the earth's axis is at right angles to the direction of the sun, are day and night of equal duration. These are called the "Equinoxes," and indicate the beginning of spring and autumn. The points when the earth, in its orbit around the sun, has its axis inclined at greatest angle toward or away from the sun, are the moments when, respectively, day or night begins to get longer and are known as "solstices." It is then that summer or winter begins.

Old Philadelphia At Stone's Dock

The old Revolutionary War gunboat Philadelphia arrived in the Rondout creek this morning and will be shown here tonight and Friday.

The Philadelphia was the first gunboat of the American Navy, being 54 feet long, 15 foot-beam, and 5 feet deep. She was built at Whitehall in the summer of 1776 and was sunk in battle with the British fleet on Lake Champlain off Valcour Island in October 11, 1776.

The wreck was located in 1935 in 57 feet of water, and was raised intact with masts, oars, guns, cannonballs, cooking utensils and various tools.

Old records show that the Americans lost between 60 and 70 men in this battle but because the British captured the American flagship, Royal Savage, the records made by the captain of the fleet, Captain Rice, were lost, and it is unknown how many men actually perished aboard the Philadelphia.

A large hole in the bow and the finding of a 24 pound cannonball inside the hull marked with the British broad arrow, a marking used by the British War Department in the Revolution and in the World War, shows the reason for the end of the Philadelphia.

The gunboat carried three large guns, a 12 pounder in the bow and two 9 pounders on each side, and a crew of 50 men. She has rested on the bottom of Lake Champlain for 153 years and oak planking two inches thick on the rails is now only one quarter of an inch thick in places.

Cities Study Plan To Tax Utilities

Albany, N. Y., June 10 (AP)—A core of New York state cities today studied ordinances designed to provide revenue for financing unemployment relief through a one per cent tax of the gross income of utilities.

The cities were empowered to impose the tax under a provision of law enacted by the 1937 legislature allowing the state to levy a similar two per cent tax for the same purpose.

William P. Capes, executive director of the State Conference of Mayors, said that local ordinances required under the law for the collection of the tax have been placed before the city councils in Buffalo, Beacon, Poughkeepsie and Gloversville.

At the same time, Mayor John Ford Thacher of Albany, said the required ordinance would be presented to the Albany common council on June 21. He estimated that if the ordinance were passed Albany would benefit by about $126,000.

Insulating Top of Weisberg Building

A truck and equipment from the home insulation division of the Johns Manville Co., Poughkeepsie, started this morning insulating the top floor of the Weisberg building on Fair street.

The insulating material, rock wool, is forced into the space between the top floor ceiling and the roof, covering it to a depth of about four inches. A representative of the company said that this insulation was figured to make a difference of from 12 to 15 degrees in the temperature of the room beneath—cooler in summer and warmer in winter. It was also stated that in some cases, where insulation has been given to the whole building much better results than that have been obtained.

The company has just completed insulating the residence of Dr. Silk and altogether during the past couple of years has insulated some 75 or 100 buildings in Kingston.

Special Election at Woodstock June 15 To Vote Fire Truck

Woodstock, June 10.—A special election will be held on Tuesday, June 15, to vote on the proposition: "Shall the fire company purchase a new fire engine as contracted for by them on December 15, 1936, and also, shall they be empowered to raise $3,000 toward the payment of same; said $3,000 to be in the form of two bonds of $1,500 each?"

The need for the new engine, it is claimed, has been brought about by the enlargement of the fire district which now includes the whole township. Besides this, the fire company also answers fire calls from Shokan, West Hurley, Phoenicia, Glenford and other towns.

The purchase of the engine and equipment is to be made from the Sanford Co., and the chassis locally, from the Wilson Brothers.

Since the raising of the question, a dispute has arisen as to the advisability of purchasing a Sanford engine, rather than one from another company.

With this in mind the fire commissioners have obtained signatures to the following:

"We, the undersigned, all having Sanford apparatus in our own local city or town, hereby state that said Sanford fire apparatus has always given us efficient service and that any service required by us from the Sanford Co. has been cheerfully and promptly given."

This is signed by the Kingston Fire Department, J. Murphy, fire chief; Port Ewen Fire Department, John T. Groves, fire chief; Milton Fire Department, P. A. Lyon, chairman of the board of fire commissioners; Plattekill Fire Department, Inc., Charles Demsky, trustee; Modena Fire Department, John P. Godesky, chairman of the board of fire commissioners; Gardiner Fire Department, J. M. Moran, commissioner; Kerhonkson Fire Department, Arthur D. Decker, commissioner; Ellenville Fire Department, C. G. A. Fischer, chief; High Falls Fire Co., Oscar Church, chairman of commissioners; Phoenicia Fire District, W. C. Weyman, commissioner; Pine Hill Fire Department, Theodore Hanington, commissioner; Lexington Fire District, Edmond H. Thier, commissioner; Saugerties Fire Department, F. S. Tongue, commissioner; Glasco Fire Department, John W. Lent, chairman of the board of fire commissioners.

Water of the Zuider Zee No Longer Contains Salt

Amsterdam, The Netherlands.—The fishermen of Marken Island and Volendam learned from an official report that analysis of the water which for centuries used to provide herrings and other fish shows that it no longer contains salt. This, of course, is a natural consequence of the construction of the dike closing the Zuider Zee.

The alteration in the biological balance has caused the almost total disappearance of fish, bringing a plague of gnats.

The Zuider Zee reclamation scheme is by far the biggest thing of its kind that has ever been attempted. By 1960, it is expected, it will have recovered 867 square miles from the waters, enough new land to support a population of 3,000,000.

England Finds It Has Increase in Population

London.—The popular belief that the marriage and birth rates of Great Britain are falling off and that the population is declining is disproved by the latest statistics issued by the registrar-general. In 1935, the last period of calculation, there were more marriages, more babies and fewer divorces.

The marriage rate was 17.2 persons per 1,000 population, compared with 16.9 in 1934 and 15.3 in 1932. There were 598,756 births, an increase on the 1933 total. The population of England and Wales is now estimated at 40,645,000.

Triple Execution.
Michigan City, Ind., June 10 (AP).—Derisive and sullen until the last second before high-voltage current snuffed out their lives, three former Ohio convicts trudged "the last mile" today in payment for the mutilation murder of Harry R. Miller, retired Cincinnati fire captain. Only nine persons—prison officials, doctors and ministers—viewed the first triple execution in Indiana state prison's 36-year history. "Goodbye, boys," yelled William A. Kuhlman, the first to climb into the electric chair.

A Child Guidance Feature

Starting With Big Silver Spoon Makes Eating Easy For Child

GROWN-UPS' SPOON
Banz! goes the silver porringer as two-year-old Sandra digs in for her noonday meal. The grown-ups' spoon doesn't faze her a bit for she's been manipulating one for a year. Much better, says her mother, for her to get used to adult equipment instead of having to outgrow the baby size.

PRIVATE TABLE
Sandra eats all by herself at a tiny table she loves to scrub after she's through. Her little chair fastens on the table, and can be tucked away in a closet when not in use. Sandra still wears a bib because sometimes a big mouthful like this one misses the mark and that causes trouble.

FITCHER FOR ONE
Steady there! That's quite a job for a youngster. But Sandra likes pouring the milk by bits into her glass. Gives her an independent feeling. And says mother, it's much easier to put down a cup of any beverage in installments than to have it all staring at you in an enormous glass.

Francisco Olazabal Dies

Aliso, Texas, June 10 (AP)—The body of Francisco Olazabal, president of the Latin-American Council of Christian Churches since 1923 and a resident of Long Island, New York, was held here today pending arrival of a son. Olazabal died Tuesday night of injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

Roosevelt Asks Help For Those Who Can't Pay, In Appeal to Medicos

Atlantic City, N. J., June 10 (AP)—A personal message from President Roosevelt asking cooperation in plans to give medical care to those unable to pay for it, was delivered to the House of Delegates of the American Medical Association here today by U. S. Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois.

The message was delivered in secret executive session. Its gist was given out at the close of the session by Dr. Morris Fishbein, official spokesman for the association.

He said that Senator Lewis telephoned the President and asked: "What shall I say to the American Medical Association?"

The answer was first to seek cooperation of the doctors in care for the medically poor.

Second, Senator Lewis said, that legislation is under consideration on which recommendations of the doctors are desired concerning distribution of medical care, and arrangements for patients to select their own physicians.

The senator asked the American Medical Association to submit plans for suitable control over these medical services, and methods of payment for them, so as to keep them out of the realm of political appointments and to maintain the high standards of American medicine.

Selecting Jury For Brown Trial

doing he explained that he recognized the fact that this was a bad season for farmer jurors to serve.

The call for the jurors has been extremely short and it had been impossible for many to arrange their business for a long stay away from home. In view of the circumstances he said he would be more lenient than usual in the excusing of men who were unable to serve because of work at home.

Judge Traver announced that it would be necessary to summon still another extra panel of jurors but stated that the selection of a jury would go on from the names now in the box.

After excuses had been heard and the jurors entitled to be released had been determined, Judge Traver took a half hour recess in order to allow County Clerk James Simpson to pay off the excused jurors.

Earhart Flies Across Africa

Dakar, French Senegal, June 10 (AP)—Amelia Earhart flew eastward across Africa's wild expanse today despite warnings that tornadoes ranged the path of her "Just for fun" round-the-world flight.

After a smooth take-off at 6:55 a. m., Greenwich mean time (1:55 a. m., E. S. T.), from Ouakam airport, the airwoman headed for Gao, 1,140 miles east and north of here on the Niger river, having altered somewhat her previously set course because of unfavorable weather.

She had planned to fly to Naimy, French Niger colony, 250 miles southeast of Gao and due east of Dakar.

Arising before dawn, Miss Earhart hurried to the airfield where she received reports of barometric depressions and tornadoes in the Sudanese region in the heart of Africa over which she had charted her course.

So she decided to swing slightly to the north to Gao but maintained the general direction of her itinerary through the center of the continent toward Lake Chad, French equatorial Africa.

Elks' Silver Jubilee.

Troy, N. Y., June 10 (AP)—The silver jubilee convention of the New York state Elks Association came to an end yesterday amid a blare of music and the march of tramping feet. Thousands of delegates assembled from all parts of the state, headed by Mayor Chester A. Ackinson, participated in a parade which featured 40 bands and 35 gaily decked floats. Albany carried off prizes for the best appearing delegation and for having the largest number of men in line, while Peekskill was awarded the prize for the best float.

Although temperature extremes in the British Isles are not so great as in the United States, the British are showing widespread interest in air-conditioning.

Prelates Scores U.S. Medicos Approval

St. Louis, June 10 (AP)—Commenting on the American Medical Association's tacit approval of birth control, Archbishop Glennon, of the Catholic Archdiocese of St. Louis, declared "the use of contraceptives, which is the popular idea of birth control, is wrong."

"Those who use these methods sin against nature and commit a deed which is shameful and intrinsically vicious," the archbishop said.

Asserting "it is fallacious" to discuss birth control on the basis of inability of the land to support rapidly increasing population, Archbishop Glennon said "here in the Mississippi Valley we could have the facilities to produce enough sustenance for more than 300,000,000 persons."

New Yorkers Like It Potent

Albany, N. Y., June 10 (AP)—New York liquor consumers like it "potent" figures showing a May increase of $423,062.57 in alcoholic beverage tax collections over the same month last year revealed today. Receipts totaled $2,154,477.24 as compared with $1,731,414.67 last year. Although the receipts for May were slightly below those for April, State Tax Commissioner Mark Graves said, each of the 11 months of the current fiscal year has shown an increase over the comparable month of the preceding year.

Will Go to Reno.

New York, June 10 (AP)—Mrs. Frances Heenan "Peaches" Browning Hynes said today she plans to go to Reno to get a divorce from her second husband, Bernard Hynes, Denver theatre manager. Mrs. Hynes, whose first husband was Edward W. "Daddy" Browning, is seeking to get her dower rights from the real estate fortune Browning left. Her second husband objected, she said, to her fight for that share in the estate.

Sardines Mailed.

New York, June 10 (AP)—Four cans of sardines were mailed last night in two packages addressed to men in two Ohio plants of the Republic Steel Company to test whether workers in the picket bound plant can receive food through the mails from outside the state. They were sent by Dwight J. Scovel, 30, Hopeville, N. J., salesman, who said he was acting as a private citizen "simply to find out if the government will refuse to deliver mail it accepts."

George Shurter's Sentence Reduced

George Shurter, who has been confined to the county jail on a larceny charge growing out of an alleged taking of an automobile, Walkill, was given a reduction of original sentence imposed when appeared before County Judge Frederick G. Traver today in court. Judge Traver reduced sentence to the amount of time which Shurter has served to date. The reduction being on recommendation of complainant and also the county officials who have found Shurter to be a model prisoner since he has been confined to jail.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By MRS. ROBBIN COONS (Guest columnist for her husband)

HOLLYWOOD—Have you ever been punch-drunk on pictures? A Hollywood correspondent's wife gets that way. Seeing pictures is part of her husband's business, and if she wants to see much of him she sees pictures too.

It isn't that I don't like pictures. I do. And as one who has seen something like four a week for five years I can say authoritatively that Hollywood's output is constantly improving.

For us there is no selecting of pictures with an eye to whether we shall enjoy them. We see them for, it seems to me, hundreds of reasons, but whether they will entertain us personally is beside the point.

Looks For Angles

A Hollywood correspondent goes to pictures to see for himself what's in them. He goes to see the work of a director, a new player on whom he has just done a story, some trick photography, a certain set, a new "come-back." He is perhaps interested in what a borrowing studio has done with a star who has not been treated too well in the matter of story or direction on his home lot.

We see pictures at previews. There is a preview, somewhere about town, practically every night.

There are plain previews, and "gala" ones. You know a preview is "gala" because it is announced on an engraved invitation, with reserved seats enclosed, and because the studio, on the appointed evening, brings out all the klieg lights and sun arcs in town.

Not So Lucky

The "gala" previews are fun because of the stars attending. It is always interesting to watch the way different ones treat autograph seekers. At "A Star Is Born" Fredric March went at snail's pace across the sizeable forecourt of Grauman's Chinese signing autographs to right and left. He quite definitely had the approval of the crowd who watched. Janet Gaynor signed one or two at the door, but was quickly taken in tow by two or three gentlemen from the studio and rushed to her car. There were two distinct hisses as John Barrymore went past.

There is much to be said on the good side of more than 200 pictures a year, but I sometimes find it hard to agree smilingly when the out-of-town visitor says, "Aren't you LUCKY to get to see ALL those pictures?"

At The Theatres

Today

Broadway: "The Good Old Soak." Comedy of the homey type comes to the Broadway with Wallace Beery in the title role and doing a grand job in a part tailor made to his talents. It is all about a worthless, drunken old fellow who seems a complete nonentity but who turns out to be a pretty shrewd fellow after all. A talented supporting cast includes George Sidney, Ted Healey, Una Merkel, Eric Linden, Betty Furness, Judith Barrett and Janet Beecher. An M-G-M comedy success directed by J. Walter Ruben.

Kingston: "Modern Times" and "Draegerman Courage." The greatest comic of his day invades the Kingston theatre after a long wait and those who haven't seen Charles Chaplin's latest cinema masterpiece will find it an intelligent blend of satire on mass production plus some of the funniest situations ever recorded by a camera. Also tragedy and brilliant acting and a new star in Paulette Goddard. There is the spark of genius in this production and although the play has its dull moments, it is nevertheless one of the important films to see and Mr. Chaplin continues to rank as the world's most popular comedian. "Draegerman Courage" is the other full length attraction with Jean Muir.

Orpheum: "The Plainsman." The growth of the west is brought to the Orpheum screen with a sweep and a grandeur seldom seen in the average western picture. For this show is far from average. It is one of last year's outstanding hits as it flames with the spirit of the days of Buffalo Bill, Wild Bill Hickok and Calamity Jane. The Indian fights are models of perfection, the acting is real and brilliant, and the story centers around the love of Calamity Jane for Wild Bill, a love that dies in tragedy. Gary Cooper, Jean Arthur, Fred Kohler and James Ellison are prominent in the cast and Cecil B. DeMille directed.

Charlie Bock, fresh from a victorious Kingston High School season, pitched Berardi A. C. to a 11 to 3 victory over Rosendale at the Athletic Field, Wednesday evening. The loss was fifth in a row for the Villagers and sunk them deeper in the cellar, so deep, in fact, that they hardly will be able to dig themselves out.

Bock gave up but five hits, and at no time had much to worry about. He was in trouble in one inning—the fourth—but otherwise had easy sailing.

Dave Rask opposed Bock and was in trouble throughout. His usual control was lacking. He handed out seven free tickets and hit one batsman. He also was hit hard, nine safeties coming off the Berardi bats.

Elmer Hopper and Tommy Maines shared the hitting spotlight. Hopper connected safely three times out of four tries. Maines gave the fans a thrill with a prolific clout in the last inning. The ball went over Cornell street. Jimmy Turk hit a triple, while H. Rask contributed a triple for the Villagers' cause.

The first inning saw the ball game sewed up. Rask was unable to locate the plate for Turk and he walked. DeCicco singled and both Zadany and Maines walked to force in Turk. Schatzel forced DeCicco at home. Bock bunted safely and Zadany registered. Hopper lined one to left field to send in Maines and Schatzel. J. Berardi was hit by a pitched ball. Then Turk, up for the second time, forced Berardi at second and Bock romped home for a total of five runs.

Berardi added another run in the third. Hopper singled to left field. Turk was safe on Steigewald's wild heave. Hopper going to third. On DeCicco's infield out Hopper crossed the plate.

Rosendale's three runs came in the fourth inning. Johnny Berardi bunted. P. Rask's grounder. D. Rask, Davis and Murphy hit consecutive singles and P. Rask scored. On a squeeze play D. Rask scored when Rask tapped the ball. The play seemed to upset the Berardiis for Davis also scored and Regan reached first. The only out made on play was a force of Murphy at second.

Hopper started Berardi's fifth with his third single and J. Berardi was safe on Regan's error. Turk sent both runners home with his triple. He scored later on a passed ball.

Zadany singled to left field in the seventh and rode home on Maines' homer.

Both teams were supposed to be improved. Berardi showed a vast improvement, but the Villagers can still stand a lot of help.

McManus at first base and Murphy in right field were the new additions to Rosendale. McManus accepted 11 chances without a slip.

Chapple Van Derzee will be in the Berardi lineup later. His injured thumb kept him out of last night's game.

The Brown-Komosa battle labeled for Friday night should be a thriller. The score:

They laugh at him one day and respect him with cheers the next—depending on whether Dizzy Dean is popping off or pitching.

When he's doing the former, the folks seem to forget about his elbowing ability, and look on him as a sort of sideshow—something amusing but under no circumstances to treat seriously.

But when he gets out on that hill, and really puts his mind to foggin' 'em in, as he did yesterday in pinning back the ears of Carl Hubbell and the New York Giants 8-1, there's something about the big fellow that makes the crowd tip its hat.

This Jekyll-Hyde personality makes for a lot of interesting headlines, but from the greeting Dizzy received before yesterday's game, it begins to appear that the faithful, generally, and the New York fans in particular, are getting mighty tired of his outbursts.

Jeered at Start

A packed Polo Grounds let out one big "boo" and followed it up with a varied assortment of jeers for most of the game. But when it was all over, and Dizzy had polished off the Giants with three hits and one unearned run, the huge gathering couldn't help roaring in approval of the pitching perfection he displayed in the opener of the double-header.

Outside of Dizzy's top-right flinging, the double bill, and particularly the advertised Hubbell-Dean duel, produced two outstanding developments:

1—That the promise of a fight will still pack them in anywhere.

2—That something serious is happening to Hubbell, who less than two weeks ago was being hailed as invincible.

The Hub-Diz rivalry was supposed to feature a repeat performance of last month's "Battle of St. Louis," when Dean's "duster" precipitated a general free-for-all in his last meeting with Hubbell and the Giants.

Apparently in the outside hope that something similar would pop up for the Polo Grounds, a near-record week-day crowd of 55,577 paid their way in to see yesterday's doings. They didn't get any first-swinging, but they were treated to a flock of baseball as the Giants followed up the opener defeat to take the nightcap 3-2 on Harry Danning's ninth-inning pinch-homer, to hang onto the league lead.

The real winner, however, was Horace Stoneham and the Giants' front office, who had a lot of fun counting the gate.

The opening game, marked the fourth straight time Hubbell has been belted out of the box. A week ago Monday the Dodgers ended his record string of 24 straight. Yesterday the Cards clouted him for 13 hits in eight innings. And since he's the mainstay of the Giant pitching staff, things don't look altogether hopeful for Bill Terry and his Terriers.

The Chicago Subs Climbed Into Second Place

The Chicago Cubs climbed into second place in their chase after the Giants by walloping Brooklyn's Dodgers 8-4, while the Pittsburgh Pirates slipped to third by losing to the Phillies 8-1. In the National League's other contests, the Boston Bees turned loose their two "old man" rookies, Lou Fette and Jim Turner, and knocked off the Cincinnati Reds twice, 5-2 and 5-0.

CONDITIONING EL LAGARTO FOR SPEEDBOAT CLASSIC

Bolton Landing, N. Y., June 10 (AP)—The veteran El Lagarto, twice winner of the Gold Cup Speedboat Classic, may comb back to the races this summer in search of her third victory.

George Reis, Pasadena, Calif., sportsman who piloted the boat to both her Gold Cup victories in 1931 and 1935, admitted today he was trying hard to get her into racing shape. "And if I can do it within two weeks," Reis added, "Who knows? I may get the old racing fever again."

Entered in this year's Gold Cup race, to be run September 6, are Impish, with which Kaye Don won the event last year, and two speedsters owned by Horace E. Dodge, Detroit racing enthusiast.

Boxing Committee Moves to Hold Summer Bouts Inside Auditorium, Herzog Suggests Cooling System

At a meeting of the mayor's industrial committee for arrangements on the boxing bouts at the municipal auditorium, Friday night, June 11, it was decided to hold the scraps indoors instead of outside in the parking lot adjacent to the big building.

"This looks like a wonderful card," said Commissioner E. Frank Flanagan, "and we have a set-up inside the auditorium ready to accommodate it. I don't think we should try to move outside at such short notice and maybe take away a lot of the effect from this program of fights."

"I haven't heard anyone complaining about attending the bouts inside. Furthermore the crowds are increasing, which proves the auditorium is the logical and favored place. And, isn't Madison Square Garden conducting its boxing shows indoors this summer?"

Matthew H. Herzog, another member of the committee, was in favor of staying indoors, but suggested that the system of air conditioning the building be improved. "A ventilator in the top of the auditorium would make it one of the coolest places in the city, I have been told by a construction engineer," said Mr. Herzog, "and I suggest that one be installed on the roof. The building needs this for comfort during summer weather fights are being run or any other sort of program."

Former Harry D. Walker, the third member of the fight committee, said he was in favor of any plan to help promote the fights along the successful lines on which they are being run. "Kingston loves these bouts and our sports public must be furnished with the weekly cards no matter where they go on; besides the enterprise is furnishing the industrial committee with funds to help promote industry."

A week ago it was tentatively planned to hold the bouts outside, but the action of the committee means that Friday's show will go on in the auditorium where elements of weather will not interfere. It was the idea of the promoters to go on rain or shine anyhow, but in their discussion at the meeting the commissioners said the ring could not be moved quickly enough without a large crew of workers, and there is a ruling that chairs cannot be removed from the auditorium.

No matter where the bouts are held, indications are that they will draw capacity attendances during the summer because of the calibre of cards offered to lovers of the leather pushing sport. Friday's bill features four main bouts. Joe Furin vs. Jackie Feldman, Johnny Blinski vs. Sergeant Perry, Pete Gama vs. Mario Severino, and Danny Romano vs. Johnny DuBlase. There are three prelims.

HAVE YOU BOB'S "OLD HABIT"?

SAY, BOB—YOU DON'T SEEM TO LIKE YOUR CIGAR. THAT'S THE THIRD YOU'VE THROWN AWAY TODAY. WHY DON'T YOU TRY SOME OTHER BRAND?

BECAUSE OF HABIT I GUESS. BUT AFTER ALL, I CAN'T AFFORD EXPENSIVE CIGARS—AND THE OTHERS ALL SEEM TO HAVE BITTERNESS AND BITE IN THEM.

THAT'S WHERE YOU'RE WRONG, BOB! HERE'S A CIGAR—FOR ONLY 5¢—I'LL GUARANTEE WON'T BE BITTER OR BITEY. IT'S PHILLIES. THE FACT IS, PHILLIES SIMPLY CAN'T BE BITTER OR BITEY.

HOW IS THAT, BILL?

FOR THIS REASON. BAYUK INVENTED A PROCESS THAT TAKES THE BITTERNESS AND BITE OUT OF THE PHILLIES TOBACCOS. THEY CAN'T GET INTO THE CIGAR.

THAT BAYUK PROCESS SOUNDS GOOD TO ME, BILL. THIS PHILLIES HAS REAL MILDNESS—WITH NO BITTERNESS OR BITE. DIDN'T REALIZE BEFORE WHAT THAT OLD HABIT WAS COSTING ME. PHILLIES FOR ME FROM NOW ON.

WHY PHILLIES ARE FREE OF BITTER, BITEY, RASPY TASTE

Bayuk selects and buys for PHILLIES the finest and mildest types of Havana, Domestic and Sumatra tobaccos. They are the very pick of the crops.

All PHILLIES tobaccos are aged and mellowed for at least two years—and are cured by the same methods used in making the most expensive cigars... BUT BAYUK DOESN'T STOP HERE.

Bayuk owns an exclusive, patented process that removes the bitter oils and harsh elements that ordinary curing methods don't, and can't, get out. No other cigar manufacturer can use this process.

130th Anniversary Rites At Flatbush

lads began the tree planting under the direction of C. Howard Osterhout, and when they had finished their part of the program, tributes to the memory of the late Theodore Brink were paid by the Hon. Judge
G. D. B. Hasbrouck, president of the Ulster County Historical Society and city historian of Kingston; Dr.
William H. S. Demarest, representing the Holland Society, and Mrs. Alton
H. Parker, trustee of the New York
State Historical Association and ex-
State Historian of the D. A. R., whose remarks appear in full as follows:

"It was only on my return to Esopus in May that I learned with deep regret of the passing of Theodore Brink, and then through reading his obituary in the April number of New York State History, the quarterly journal of the New York State Historical Association of which
Mr. Brink was a valued member.

I first met Mr. Brink at one of our annual three-day meetings which included pilgrimages to historic places, and thereafter almost annually at the meetings of this society in different parts of the state. He was deeply interested in history and genealogy in his state and country, and was treasurer of the Ulster County Historical Society from the date of its reorganization in 1930 to the time of his death.

Mr. Brink's 75 years were crowded with constructive activity in the business world, in public affairs, historic affiliations, patriotic and charitable work, and especially in spiritual matters. He served continuously for almost a half century as postmaster of Lake Katrine, where he was also a merchant. He lived in the house occupied for several generations by his direct ancestors. He was descended from Captain Andrew Brink who was the first town clerk of Saugerties, and captain of Robert Fulton's first steamboat the "Cler-mont." History records a letter from Robert Fulton to Captain Andrew Brink dated October 9, 1807, giving him instructions for handling the "Clermont."

Being interested in people and all that concerned his friends, Mr. Brink was a good neighbor, and in a very broad sense, for Ulster county and even New York State embraced his neighborhood.

Among his patriotic, social, charitable and spiritual affiliations were the Holland Society of New York, Sons of the American Revolution, and Society of Colonial Wars, to all of which he belonged by right of heredity. He was a member of the Kingston Club, and one of the pillars of this Flatbush Reformed Church.

In his busy life, Mr. Brink found time to be public spirited, and was a director of the Kingston Cooperative Building & Loan Association, and was a member, and at the time of his death honorary president of the Ulster County Committee of the State Charities Aid Association.

To such as he will his Lord say:
"Well done good and faithful servant," and we rejoice that he has entered into the joy that he merited.

The affectionate regard and esteem in which Mr. Brink was held is being shown in the planting and dedication of this maple tree to his memory on the grounds of the church which he loved and served so well.
This tree is in truth an ancestral memorial, for it grew on the farm of Howard Osterhout, to whose family it was deduced by James H. in 1886, and Mr. Brink was a descendant of that family, his mother having been born an Osterhout.

A tree with its roots firmly mounded to the earth, where birds will build among its branches, whose beauty and majesty refreshes and pleases the eye of the passerby, or of those who stop beneath its shade, feeling the need for rest and quiet,
that are essential for a fuller life—what could be more appropriate as a memorial to one whose work has been well done and whose "friendship was as a sheltering tree."

Mr. Brink will ever be remembered by this generation, and this tree—a living monument—will be here as a perpetual reminder for future generations that here in consecrated ground rests a man worthy of this tribute. And thus will he live on, for in the words of the poet:

"To live in hearts we leave behind is not to die."
To those loyal friends who conceived and carried out the idea of this tree memorial, I would quote from Henry Van Dyke's poem, "The Friendly Trees":

"He that planted a tree is a servant
of God
He provideth a kindness for many generations,
And faces that he hath not seen shall bless him."

Flowers and Exhibits

The flower show was opened by Hubert Brink, Jr., when the little fellow cut the tape across the door entering the hall. Large displays of flowers formed a fine exhibit, and many blue and yellow ribbons, denoting first and second places, were given to the participants.

Two missionary exhibits were held in the paragon, one displaying various implements brought from Africa by Miss Ellen Van Sylke, and the Church Program

Another program of historical interest was held in the church under the leadership of Joel Brink. Arthur H. Russell displayed a fine collection of Indian relics and told briefly of the Indians that inhabited this area.
Willis C. Nash gave an interesting talk on the old Senate House, as follows:

The Senate House is the oldest public building in the United States.
Its foundation is embedded in the rocky ledge of the Catskill spur of the Appalachian chain, which emerged from chaos, according to geological estimate, over one hundred million years before any other land rose above the desolate waters of this planet of ours. Therefore, we are not only contemplating the oldest public building in the United States but a building located on the oldest real estate development in the world.

The Senate House was built in 1676 by Col. Wessel Ten Broeck, who was born in Westphalia in 1635. He came to New Netherland and settled in Kingston, then Wiltwyck, probably about the year 1658. He gained his military title in the wars with the Indians at Esopus and was associated with the redoubtable Governor Petrus Stuyvesant in "quieting" these Indians in 1661.

Col. TenBroeck married his first wife, Jacobynette Van Gaasbeek, some time previous to 1670, for his eight children by this marriage were born between 1670 and 1690. He married a second time, in 1698, the widow of Thomas Chambers, the first permanent settler of Kingston. She had previously been the wife of the Rev. Laurentius Van Gaasbeek, the second minister of the Dutch Church of Kingston.

One can well imagine, glancing to those days when large families were the rule, that if the children of these many marriages were gathered in one household, there might have been an overflow even in the spacious Senate House.

Be that as it may, the Ten Broeck house was always a home of distinction, occupied and frequented by distinguished people.

It reached the zenith of its fame in 1777 when its proprietor, Abraham Van Gaasbeek, offered it to the newly constituted state of New York as a meeting place and home for the senate of the commonwealth.

The senate met and organized here
September 10, 1777, and remained in continuous session until Kingston was sacked and burned October 16, 1777. It was in convocation even on that last morning when the British forces were camped on Esopus Island about to assault the devoted town.
Governor George Clinton met with the senate that very morning and left it to hasten his hurrying troops to repel the invaders.

Alas, they could not get to Kingston in time to meet the enemy and the fire and rapine ensued. The Senate House shared in the general conflagration and its career was ended as the home of the senators of New York state.

Like nearly all of the old stone houses in Kingston, its walls stood up and it was ultimately restored to its former grandeur.

During its long career its hospitality was ever maintained in the perfect flower of goodfellowship. Nearly every person of note who passed through the town found welcome there. Tradition tells that Benjamin Franklin, voyaging by sloop up the Hudson, was entertained there on his way to that first congress in North America, held in Albany in 1754.

General Israel Putnam was no doubt a guest there when he was in command of the forces of the Revolution along the river. George Washington, who visited Kingston in 1782, must have entered the portals of the Senate House, and within its walls John Jay, the first chief justice of the state of New York and later the first chief justice of the United States, wrote the state constitution.

Chancellor Livingston and General Montgomery (killed at Quebec) were familiar figures on Kingston's streets in pre-revolutionary days, both having married Kingston girls, and must have been known in this old house.

The story goes that it was occupied by the gay and festive Peter Van Gaasbeek, who was a member of congress from Ulster county in the early years of the republic. He was the boon companion of Aaron Burr, then vice-president of the United States. They were birds of a feather, and many a wassail in which they filled and emptied the flowing bowl was roistered through the wee sma's hours in the Senate House.

Washington Irving, who with ex-
-President Van Buren was sauntering along the streets and outskirts of Kingston in 1849, exclaimed as he surveyed the Catskills, "This is the most impressive and beautiful mountain scenery I have ever witnessed."
What is more probable than that they were guests at the Senate House?

Here, as late as 1880, the former president of the United States,

Chester A. Arthur, bowed his tall head to avoid collision with the lintel of the doorway of this ancient building.

So we find the atmosphere of greatness circumbent about this chief edifice of Kingston, throughout the centuries of its notable life, governors, senators, judges, leaders in all walks of life, are known to have been its guests.

The Senate House passed from one ownership to another through the various family trees of the Ten Broeck, Van Gaasbeek and Chambers, always by inheritance—never by sale—covering seven generations from the original stem.

These are the names of the various proprietors appearing on the title deeds from 1676 to 1887:
Wessel Ten Broeck, Sarah Ten
Broeck, Abraham Van Gaasbeek, Sarah Dumont (wife of Peter Van Gaasbeek), Sarah Van Gaasbeek, Charles Ruggles Westbrock, Frederick E. Westbrock, Elizabeth West-brock Schoonmaker.

In 1887, the last private owner,
Elizabeth Westbrock Schoonmaker, sold the Senate House to the state of New York, to be maintained as a perpetual shrine for patriotic devotion and a memento of the birth of the commonwealth of the Empire State.

The state allowed the property to lie idle for several years and then opened it as a museum.

In 1927, the state erected the second building on the property known as the Senate House Museum.

Both buildings house historical treasures becoming more and more valuable and interesting as additions are made from time to time.
The Senate House, a monument of ancient days, now at rest. There it stands! A sentinel in the march of time! At rest, yet still alive, guarding and preserving the relics and towering traditions of the past;
commanding and ordering the resources and aspirations of the present to duty and to active service;
and marshaling and mobilizing the bright battalions of the future to new conquests, new glories, new ideals and noble achievement."

Evening Program

The program for the evening was opened by Miss Helen Sheldon with a harp selection, "In the Garden," and was followed by the "Pageant of the Church of Ulster Classics." Standing room was at a premium as the presentation of this first pageant brought 27 delegates from the various Reformed churches of this territory, bringing tributes to the Mother Church of The Netherlands, represented by Mrs. Arthur E. Oudemool. These tributes consisted of vocal solos, piano solos, historical sketches, and bouquets of flowers.

A male quartet consisting of William T. Hooker, Jr., Charles
Snyder, Ralph Gurney, and Harold Brigham, rendered some fine vocal selections immediately following the first pageant.

The second pageant, "Memory Windows," was written by the Rev.
S. W. Ryder and presented in seven individual scenes. This production was held out-of-doors with Miss Phebe Cheshire as reader, and depicted events from the history of the Flatbush Church.

Tour of Houses

Today's program will include two addresses by William A. Van Ben-schoten and Mrs. A. E. P. Searing, and then will begin a tour of the old houses of the vicinity with the procession ending at the home of Joel Brink at Lake Katrine, where refreshments will be served.

May's Big Storm Cost $2,000 to Clean Up

Superintendent David Conway of the Board of Public Works said this morning that the big hail and wind storm of Sunday, May 23, which swept through Kingston had cost the city $2,000 to repair the storm's damage, and that men were still busy resetting curbs and removing roots of trees leveled by the storm. The street department had removed 30 trees which had either been felled by the storm or left in a dangerous condition.

The city trucks had conveyed 171 loads of limbs and other debris from the streets and the streetsweeper had gathered up 256 cubic yards in five days work.

The cost of removing the trees and cleaning up had totaled $1,600 while the cost of removing stumps of trees would cost $400, making the total cost $2,000.
